Jungle Fighters Storm Into Bitterly Defended Papuan Village.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The navy announced today that American air forces in the South Pacific had poured more bombs on the Japanese air base at Munda on New Georgia island on Dec. 14, the fifth day of such attacks.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — American jungle fighters, supported by Australians, stormed into Buna village yesterday and heavy fighting raged about the Japanese-held Buna mission to the east today while Allied bombers smashed at new enemy invasion expeditions put ashore by a strong cruiser and destroyer force at two points farther up the New Guinea coast.

The Americans slashed their way into the village five days after the capture of Gona, 12 miles to the northwest. These were the main bases of the foothold established by the Japanese last July 23 in their closest thrust toward northeast Australia.

(War front dispatches reaching Melbourne said the Allies were squeezing the Japanese from three sides on the central sector of the Gona-Buna battleground, with Australians and Americans attacking through the center at Sananda point, above Buna village.)

Despite the frightful cost in men and supplies inflicted upon the new Japanese landing operations, a headquarters communique indicated some reinforcements were put ashore by the heavily protected convoy standing off the mouths of the Ku-

Crowd's Calm As Fire Hits Large Pittsburgh Hotel

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— One fireman died from smoke and more than 100 others were overcome early today in fighting a stubborn, long-smoldering fire in the second sub-basement of the 22-story William Penn hotel.

The flames were confined to the basement storeroom and none of the 1,000 guests were injured, although several hundred left their smoke-filled rooms in pajamas.

Flames of unknown origin broke out about 11 o'clock last night in the basement room where hotel furnishings were stored.

Smoke rolled up into the fashionable Chatterbox cabaret, two floors above the fire, where there was a small Monday night crowd of about 50, including 20 service men.

Band Leader Art Ravel announced quietly:

"Due to smoky conditions we request that you leave and go to the terrace (main dining) room upstairs." The crowd and the bandmen calmly complied. Music resumed. A half hour later, when smoke began coming into the terrace room, the diplomatic Raval again spoke up: "Due to the same smoky conditions we will have to discontinue service tonight."

The crowd began leaving.

After a six-hour battle, firemen said the blaze was under control.

SET TO QUIT

Quorum Lacking in House as Congress Waits Adjournment.

WASHINGTON (INS)— A resolution for adjournment of the 77th congress may be laid before the senate today, with Democratic leaders hopeful of bringing the session to a close either tomorrow or Thursday.

Leaders, however, were faced by the almost unprecedented situation that one man could block the adjournment by calling for a quorum of the house, which admittedly is not present in Washington.

As a result of this situation, Democratic and Republican leaders united in an effort to forestall "trouble-makers" from robbing the legislature of a two-weeks respite before it plunges into a new session of the 78th congress. All major business had been scrapped except for efforts to increase salaries of 2,600,000 government employes on demand of President Roosevelt.

PRODUCTION, NEW WEAPONS SEEN AS KEY

Official Reports Indicate Some Giant Planes Now on Way To Fronts.

SECRET GUNS HINTED

Overwhelming Drives Against Axis Expected To Dwarf Present Action.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—American air, sea and land forces, according to all available indications, should have by late next summer the weapons to begin a series of overwhelmingly powerful drives against the Axis.

The battles which will then ensue, particularly in the Pacific, probably will make most of the actions to date look like glorified skirmishes.

This picture comes from recent official disclosures on the production of giant planes, aircraft carriers and battleships and other formidable new weapons or improved types of old ones.

Here are the high spots of those disclosures:

Bombing planes—great new bombers are on the way and may soon begin to show up in small numbers on the world's fighting fronts. Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of army airforces, said in a speech Sunday that they would make the present flying fortresses look just like small planes.

Judged by usual standards of secrecy, Arnold's revelation of the existence of these giants certainly was not made until they were actually in production. Assuming that long-range plans for quantity output were made long since, they should be reaching the battle zones in quantity six or eight months from now. Only last night the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., announced development of a "radical" new tank-carrying cargo plane which also can transport guns, ammunition, supplies and troops to distant fronts.

Aircraft carriers—since last July three regular carriers and three carriers converted from cruisers which were still on the

PAPER DELIVERY STILL STALLED

New Yorkers Go Without 8 Major Newspapers Second Day.

NEW YORK —(INS)— No deliveries of New York City's eight major newspapers were made for the second successive day today as further conferences were arranged in an attempt to end the strike of some 2,000 members of the mail deliverers' union.

The publishers, whose combined circulation totals 3,500,000 copies, awaited word from Washington in reply to their appeal for intervention by "proper government authorities."

Editorial and production staffs worked as usual. Editions were run off as usual but no deliveries were made. Those desiring newspapers had to obtain them at the plants.

Mansfield Responds Early To Give-A-Christmas 'Adoptions'

Mansfield's Give-a-Christmas program to provide holiday dinners to the needy, was under way in earnest today as organizations and individuals stepped forward to adopt families through the clearing house service maintained this year by the Salvation Army.

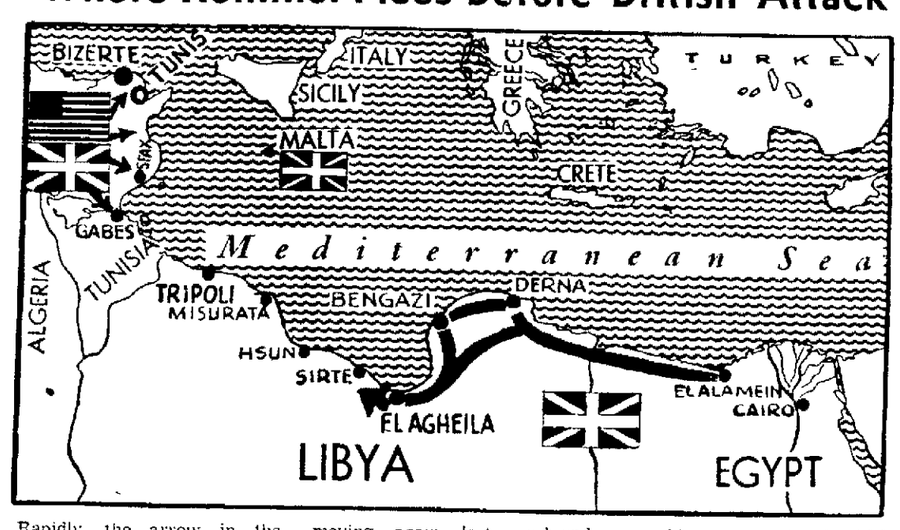
Close to 100 families out of 350 listed for adoption by various local and county welfare agencies had been assured of a Christmas dinner today as church groups, Girl Scouts, Volunteers of America, Catholic Welfare society and other civic organizations volunteered to aid in the program.

The 300 families comprising the list this year were culled from 500 names submitted by various welfare groups. Adjt. Paul Hoffman of the Salvation Army said that investigation showed approximately 200 of the original list were able to provide their own Christmas dinner this year because of employment.

Only actually needy cases comprise the list, said the adjutant, citing a family of three where the wife has been the sole support of an invalid husband and 12-year-old son for the past few years. Recently the breadwinner was laid off and the family has been compelled to be more frugal than ever.

"Although confined to a wheel chair the father has earned $6 towards a pair of much needed eyeglasses," Hoffman said, by telephoning friends and asking them to stop and see a selection of Christmas cards. The adjutant pointed out that "it is families like this that deserve an extra good Christmas."

Where Rommel Flees Before British Attack



Rapidly, the arrow in the above map, which indicates the retreat of Field Marshal Rommel's Africa corps westward from El Alamein, is extending itself toward Tripoli. It began moving again last week-end when the British re-opened their attack and drove the Axis forces from El Agheila without a struggle. With the British now in hot pursuit of Rommel's forces there are hints from North Africa that the retreat may not even stop at Tripoli but will continue to Tunisia where Hitler may have elected that his forces should make their final stand.

Meets Tonight On Plan To Allow Bates To Stay With FBI

At their meeting tonight in City hall the Mansfield Civil Service commission will seek means whereby Meade K. Bates can continue his service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation without imperiling his seniority rights as on-leave police chief, Attorney George W. Biddle, commission president, announced today.

Romaine E. Sneeringer, 501 Sloane avenue, chief clerk for the Ohio Public Service company, will sit with the board for the first time, having been appointed by Mayor W. J. Locke to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. C. Mansfield, now examiner for the area rent office.

"The commission has no intent or desire," President Biddle said, "to hamper the FBI nor to penalize Bates for performing federal service. There has been no pressure exerted on the board to influence Bates' status, so far as I know, and my wish is to maintain the board in a way to merit and have the public's confidence."

Biddle said that the board is confined by state law and court rulings to granting not more than one year of leave to Civil Service employes except on their entry into the armed forces. "The state law," he pointed out, "refers to the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard or other similar service."

"If we can reach agreement that 'other similar service' is broad enough to embrace the FBI we will be glad to do so," Biddle declared. "It appears evident that when the state lawmakers compiled the code they would have included such federal service if they could have foreseen the FBI need of drafting qualified police officers into its ranks. Admittedly, the FBI is really an armed force, an integral factor of the war effort and as such, entitled to first consideration."

Biddle said he is confident that, because of an apparent unanimous interest in the successful prosecution of the war in every manner possible, the public will approve his suggestion that, other avenues being closed, Bates be requested to resume his duties as police chief

RESIGNS POST

Sammons Quits Gas Panel, Althouse Succeeds Him.

T. R. Sammons, member of the gasoline panel of the Richland county war price and rationing board since its inception early in November, announced his resignation effective today.

William Althouse, architect, who has served on the gas advisory board during the recent ration registration period, takes a seat on the panel, W. J. Spreng, chairman, announced.

Sammons, accompanied by Mrs. Sammons, leaves tonight by train for a brief business visit in Washington, going from there to Florida for a health sojourn. On his return Sammons will assume Althouse's place on the advisory board.

Charles C. Beelman, ration board chairman, today called a meeting of all Richland county gasoline dealers and fire inspectors for 8 p. m. Thursday in the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school auditorium for discussions on gas rationing and fire inspections.

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Western Airlines announced today that a passenger liner with more than 14 occupants including some military personnel was missing on a flight here from Salt Lake City.

The craft took off at 1:05 a. m. (MWT) and was last reported 15 miles west over a C. A. A. station at Fairfield, Utah.

Leo Werlkotte, executive vice president of the line, said an air search was being organized. He said there was no radio contact with the craft after the take-off.

PRESIDENT KEPT IN WITH COLD

Carries on Official Conference In Residential Quarters.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — President Roosevelt remained in the residential quarters of the White House today, nursing a slight head cold but carrying on a regular routine of official conferences.

The president's physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, advised him this morning to remain in the house most of the day.

McIntire planned to examine the president later in the day. If he still has no temperature, the chief executive probably will hold his regular Tuesday afternoon press conference.

GET DIPLOMAS IF INDUCTED

Mansfield, Shelby Seniors To Get Sheepskins If Army Calls Them Early.

Mansfield and Shelby high school seniors who are called for army induction before the end of the first semester next month probably will get their diplomas anyway, although they will not complete their school year, school officials said today.

The state department of education today placed the decision on giving diplomas to inducted seniors in the hands of boards of education and superintendents.

Selective service board clerks said there was little likelihood that any Mansfield seniors will be called before the second semester and in that event they may request deferment until the end of the school year.

Shelby and other county high schools, however, probably will be faced with the question of

NAME VICTIMS

Authorities Still Identifying Those Burned at St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS, NEWFOUNDLAND—(U.P.)—Authorities today sought to complete identification of 100 bodies recovered from the ashes of the Knights of Columbus hostel for service men.

Twenty-two victims of the fire Saturday night had not been identified. Most of the bodies were so badly charred the chief means of identifying them was pocketbooks, watches, letters and photographs. Some bodies may have been completely consumed; 102 were injured, some critically.

Officials said the names of American, Canadian and Newfoundland service men killed would be released simultaneously in Ottawa, Washington and St. Johns, perhaps today. At least 20 Americans among the 350 men and women attending a barn dance in the hostel were believed to have died.

STATE OF SIEGE

Bolivian Government Acts To Halt Disturbances.

LA PAZ, Bolivia — (U.P.) — The government decreed a state of siege in the entire country today following disturbances by "extremist elements" in the Catavi mining district.

Declaring that the disorders were hampering production in the mining area, the decree dispatched army units to guard mines and transportation facilities.

Columbus Lassies Can Get Only Small Amount of 'Inspiration.'

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Many Columbus lassies will go unkissed at Christmas-time, if their young men are the type that require the aid of mistletoe.

A check of commission houses today disclosed only a small quantity of mistletoe has been received, and little additional is expected.

Reports Assert Rommel to Aid Tunisian Fight

Nazi Leader Rumored To Have Left Hotly Pursued Africa Corps To Direct Bizerte Defense As Naples Reveals Air Blow.

(By United Press)

LONDON—The German Afrika Korps, hotly pursued across Tripolitania by the British Eighth army, may be preparing to forfeit its great base at Tripoli without a fight and retire into Tunisia for a last stand, front dispatches said today.

There were unconfirmed reports here that Marshal Erwin Rommel himself had abandoned his retreating army after the British break-through at El Agheila and had gone to Bizerte to take charge of the defense of Tunisia. Axis troops and supplies already are pouring into eastern Tunisia from Tripoli, front dispatches said, indicating that Adolf Hitler considered the Tunisian bridgehead more important than a defense of what is left of Benito Mussolini's African empire.

The Axis was under heavy pressure all along the North African battle line. American planes hammered at German bases on the Tunisian coast and the RAF gave the retreating Afrika Korps no respite. Radio Morocco broadcast a report that the Germans were suffering heavily as they fled westward along the coastal road from El Agheila and listed the 15th and 21st panzer divisions, the 54th German infantry division and a German light division as being among the retreating troops.

The Italian high command broadcast a report that Naples was bombed last night, indicating the Allies may still be attempting to choke off Axis reinforcement from Italy, but there was no confirmation of the report from Allied sources.

Whether the Allies will win Tripoli without a fight depends chiefly on whether the Germans can reinforce the Afrika Korps before Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British Eighth army, overcomes the problem of maintaining communications and providing water for his rapidly advancing forces. Front dispatches indicated that might cause the British more trouble than Axis resistance. There are only scattered water wells between El Agheila and Misurata, toward which the British are moving.

Once past Misurata, the British would find it easier going. The land between Misurata and Tripoli is cultivated and well populated and the Eighth army could find supplies.

Whatever may be Rommel's plans for Tripoli, there is no doubt that the Axis is making a determined attempt to reinforce its Tunisia army.

Allied air reconnaissance determined that for three days small transports, including even sailing vessels, have been arriving at Gabes, on the east Tunisia coast, from Tripoli.

Spanish advices from Algiers reported heavy motor traffic along the Axis held Libyan-Tunisian coast and said several German columns were moving into the hills

ANGRY: French Quit Desks As Laval Plans Nazi 'Supervision'

(By United Press)

LONDON—Pierre Laval will confer with Adolf Hitler in the next few days to agree to German "advisers" being stationed in all Vichy government departments and to negotiate formation of a new Vichy army by German "experts," advices from the continent said today.

Dispatches which reached Spain from France said that hundreds of Vichy civil servants, informed of Laval's plan, had locked their desks, thrown away the keys and gone home. Some tacked notices on office doors: "Closed indefinitely."

Likewise most army officers, invited to resume services in a new army under German-imposed conditions indignantly refused, the dispatches said.

Germany yesterday began broadcasting intimations that Laval was still in Vichy last night and would preside at a cabinet meeting today "to give last instructions before his departure abroad." This broadcast said that it was uncertain whether Laval would leave Paris, after arriving there from Vichy, today or tomorrow.

Spanish advices said Laval was finally and irretrievably determined to effect close collaboration with Germany regardless of any opposition and that he had expressed himself as both disappointed and angry with the French nation for refusing to co-operate with him.

Laval was quoted as saying to Vichy newspapermen in various press conferences that his plans were meeting stubborn resistance and that he had determined to move "completely without pity" against anybody who stood in his way.

The Exchange Telegraph heard the Berlin radio say that 15,000 French workers had been "selected" in the Vichy area of France for immediate transfer to Germany.

COSTLY: Nazi Counter Drives In Russia Balked, Losses Heavy

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(AP)—With dive-bombers, tanks and infantry attacks sprung out of a rolling fog, the Germans have seized the offensive momentarily southwest of Stalingrad, but the Russians declared today that the attacks were checked after initial gains.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—The Red army, killing more than 3,000 frantically counter-attacking Germans in the last 24 hours, captured another village southwest of Stalingrad today.

More than 500 Germans were killed as the Russians stormed into the village, the Soviet noon communique said. The Russians captured 30 Germans, three tanks, 40 guns and food and munition dumps.

Front-line reports said the Germans were making non-stop counter-attacks southwest of Stalingrad, and in the Rzhev area, on the central front. But in the last 24 hours, they gained for the Germans only one small advance southwest of Stalingrad.

Besides losing more than 3,000 men in counter-attacks on the Stalingrad and central fronts, the Germans lost 44 tanks and 47 guns, captured or destroyed.

They paid 1,000 lives, seven tanks and 11 guns for their advance southwest of Stalingrad.

The Stalingrad garrison attacked in a factory area during the night, occupied a number of buildings, killing 80 Germans and captured booty, the noon communique said.

NOVA BOYS WIN IN PEST HUNT

Take Farm Bureau Plaque For Second Consecutive Year In Ashland County.

NOVA—For the second consecutive year the Nova Future Farmers of America chapter today had won the Ashland county pest hunt plaque offered by the Farm Bureau.

The chapter winning the plaque three years in succession gets permanent possession of it

While the Nova chapter obtained fewer points in the contest just ended than some of the other schools in the county, its paid -up membership was smaller, giving the chapter the highest per-member average. Perrysville was second and Savannah, third.

A total of 36,516 points were collected by the county F F.A. chapters this year. Nova collected 6485 points, Savannah, 6865; Loudonville 6796, Perrysville 8189, Ashland, 3528; Ruggles 2988, Hayesville 2685, Sullivan 983.

In the county a total of 8877 sparrows were caught, 3485 mice, 1019 rats, 694 pigeons, 406 starlings, 221 moles, 28 crows and seven weasels

Gas rationing decreased the amount of travel of the boys all over the county, making the total number of points slightly lower than last year A dinner was also talked about for the winners of the pest hunt, but gas rationing also put this county get-together out of the picture

All county and state contests for the F F.A chapters have been discontinued for the duration of the war. The annual F F A convention will be held in April instead of June and only delegates will be permitted to make the trip The annual F.F.A speaking contest will be held in connection with this convention.

HEARS REPORT

Engineers Prepare Figures on Shelby Dam.

SHELBY -With engineers from the H. P. Jones and company of Toledo already starting work on drawing up preliminary plans and specifications, city officials disclosed today that they hope to have a report ready on the dam over the Black Fork river by the time city council meets on Monday Dec 21.

The engineers were in Shelby last week to get data needed in drawing up the plans for the dam which will impound about 1,800,000 gallons of water in the Black Fork river for auxiliary source of supply to the city wells.

The project, when completed, will end the critical water shortage in this city which caused city officials to call on water consumers to cut consumption earlier this winter when the city wells dropped to lowest point reached in recent years

SOCIETY & CLUBS

JOINT MEETING HELD BY TWO STUDY CLUBS

Victorian, Round Table Groups Hear Talk at Women's Club by Atty. J. H. Gongwer; Luncheon Precedes Program.

MEMBERS of the Round Table club were guests of Victorian club members for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Women's Club on Monday. Mrs. W. J. Tappan of the Round Table group and Mrs. John W. Graham of the Victorian club, were hostesses for the occasion. The lovely centerpiece for the table was of white pine cones, winter berries and Christmas ornaments arranged by Mrs. Tappan. Program chairmen were Mrs. D. W. Peppard and Mrs. A. L. Price.

"Women In War" was the subject of Atty J. H. Gongwer, who was guest speaker for the meeting. Mr. Gongwer explained that his talk had been motivated by an editorial which had been written by a soldier for an army camp's newspaper. The soldier, who has been enduring hardships at a jungle outpost questioned, in his editorial, the value of fighting for a nation in which Congress quibbles and postpones decisions on vital issues "until after elections," and for a country in which the people care more about a Sunday drive than providing a rubber boat for a stranded soldier or sailor in the South Pacific. He pleaded with the people of the United States to forget their selfish desires and to wake up and prove themselves worthy of the sacrifices and hardships which men on the battle fronts are enduring for them.

Mr. Gongwer pointed out that he is of the opinion that men and women think similarly about economics and politics. Yet the attitude of women is more serene, as they can usually feel confident that everything will turn out all right.

At the conclusion of his resume of factors that brought about the selfish attitude of Americans, Mr. Gongwer summarized the causes in four points: at the end of the last war, Americans became "isolationists," ignoring anything that was going on in other countries; citizens of the United States came to have no respect for the great historical leaders of the country; because of "wishful thinking," Americans said that Hitler and the Japs could not attack this country yet people knew that the U. S would be in the war eventually and the last point leading to this attitude was that soft living grew to be the greatest desire of most Americans.

The final portion of Mr. Gongwer's talk was devoted to a description of the change of attitude in the one year that the United States has been in the war. He stated that people have begun to feel not only pride in the armed forces, but also a sense of the great power of the organizations for war that have been called into power. This growth of a sense of power is said Mr Gongwer, the most striking development in American thinking since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

A four-point plan for peace presented by the speaker emphasized the necessity of the democracies policing the world and eternally guarding the liberties for which the soldier-editorial writer, and millions like him, are fighting.

The Victorian club's next meeting will be a "White Gift Luncheon" at the Women's Club on Dec 21 Hostesses will be Dr. Adda Liffring and Miss Lois MacKellar. Mrs Carl Gibson will entertain the Round Table club on Jan. 4.

Mary Washington Chapter, D.A.R., Meets On Monday

A musical program was given for the Mary Washington chapter of D. A. R. yesterday by an ensemble from the a capella choirs of the John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed Junior high schools, and Linn Decker, pianist. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. E. W. Loughridge.

Included in the selections by the young Mr. Decker were "Nalaguena" by Ernesto Lecuona, "Valse in E minor" by Chopin and "A Prelude" by the late Gershwin. The ensemble, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, sang "Panis Angelicus" by Franck, "Dodo" a Pyranese folk song, and an arrangement of "Holy Night," They were accompanied by Miss Louise Crouse.

During the busines meeting, a letter was read from Colonel Woolley, of Camp Perry, expressing appreciation for the 23 "buddy bags" which were sent them from the local chapter. Another letter was received from the chaplain at the Great Lakes Training station, for the eight "buddy bags" which were sent them.

An announcement was made of the state meeting which will be held in Columbus, March 16 through the 18th. National Congress will be held in Cincinnati with headquarters in the Deshler-Wallick hotel. The session opens on Saturday, Apr. 17.

Mrs. William A. Blicke, Bucyrus, spoke on "Faith and Courage," at the meeting at which 21 members and 3 guests were present.

Presiding at the table, when dessert was served were Mrs Rufus A. Tracy and Mrs. H. H Sanford. Associate hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Miller, Mrs. Paul Stoodt, Mrs. F. A. Weaver and Mrs. Harro Woltmann.

Spaghetti Supper Planned By Guild

Tentative plans for a spaghetti supper to be held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Hedeen, president of the Katherine Aberle guild, were made at the Monday evening meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Keil, 265 South Diamond street.

During the social program, Mrs. Hedeen read the Bible story, "The First Christmas." An article on "Home Missions" was read by Miss Mary Hess, concerning the American Indian and Negro. The ...nday program committee was appointed. It includes Mrs Albert Hagans and Mrs. Charles Gilbert. Devotions were led by Mrs. Keil.

Luncheon was served at one long table Clever miniature Santa Clauses were used for favors. The spaghetti supper will be Jan. 11 at the home of Mrs. Hedeen Chevy Chase road.

Those Last-Minute Gifts

Top, brushed knit jersey yarn bed jacket; below, skating costume; right, white collar with crocheted trill.

By SUSAN BRADEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

If you are busy with a job in a munitions factory or have been doing voluntary war work, you may have put off your Christmas shopping to the very last minute. There are always some people on the gift list for whom it is difficult to select a suitable present, so here are some ideas that may be helpful this season.

The first gift would be a wonderful choice for an athletic minded teen age girl. It is a colorful ice skating costume complete with shoes and skates. The skating suit is made of brilliant yellow wool. The skirt is short and full enough for perfect freedom of action while doing even the trickiest ice frolics. The jacket has a small pocket and buttons covered with the same material, and can be worn with other skirts or dresses for school or spectator sports.

Even if your favorite sub-deb is not a skating enthusiast she would like to receive a pair of the warm wool mittens and the baby cap The mittens are in bright yellow and are embroidered with red flowers. The cap is also knitted and ties under the chin with one streamers ending in two gay pom poms.

Suitable for Any Age.

The other two selections would be suitable for any age woman from 16 to 70, as they are pretty, practical and feminine.

Especially this winter when the night are cold and the fires are low, your best girl will welcome a teddy bear bed jacket made of the new brushed knit jersey yarn. The white fuzzy fabric makes a snugly jacket and a becoming one, too. White ribbon bows tie the little coat in front and give a finish to the collarless nickline.

Another choice that any one would love is a crisp white collar. It can be put on almost any type of dress and make it new and fresh looking. This one is wide enough to almost cover the shoulders and is deep enough for a V neckline It is trimmed with a crocheted frill and is very easy to wash and keep glistening white.

"The Authority on Authorities"

BEWARE A THIRTEENER

Leading a three-card suit, if it has not been bid, always risks setting up a thirteener for the declarer, at either No Trump or suit play. If you catch your partner with exactly three cards, too, and the enemy with three in his own hand opposite four in dummy or vice versa, you may sacrifice the advantage of timing by doing for him something he otherwise might not be able to do quickly enough for himself.

(Dealer South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass

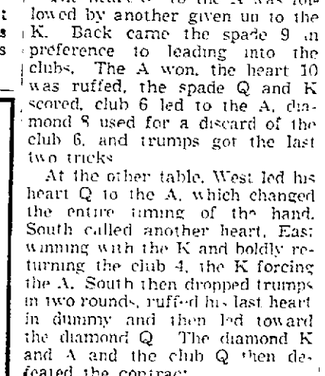
In view of the bidding, West did not like to lead either of the black suits, at either of two duplicate tables. Consequently a red card was opened at both. Just see what happened where the defender picked the three-card diamonds. It made no difference which card he used, but he actually selected the J. East took the K and A and continued to South's Q. Now the dummy's 8 was set up.

The heart 6 to the A was followed by another given up to the K. Back came the spade 9 in preference to leading into the clubs. The A won, the heart 10 was ruffed, the spade Q and K scored, club 6 led to the A, diamond 8 used for a discard of the club 6, and trumps got the last two tricks.

At the other table, West led his heart Q to the A, which changed the entire timing of the hand. South called another heart, East winning with the K and boldly returning the club 4, the K forcing the A. South then dropped trumps in two rounds, ruffed his last heart in dummy and then led toward the diamond Q The diamond K and A and the club Q then defeated the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable).

After South ruffs the second round of clubs, how should he play for 5-Hearts on this deal?

Christmas Dinner Served To Club

Little Flower Study club members met last evening at the home of Mrs. J. J. Daly, West First street, for their Christmas party. Green and red berries centered the table at which dinner was served. A "Christmas grab" was enjoyed after the dinner and a basket was filled for a needy family.

Prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. John Daley and Miss Edna Horning. Next business meeting of the club will take place on Jan. 11 at the home of Mrs. M. A. Downs on Crescent road.

Grandparents Do Many Good, Unsung Deeds

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

I BELIEVE there are more good grandparents than bad ones. I may be a little biased, being a grandpa myself.

Practically all the grandparents want to be good ones and suppose they are. Whatever harm they do comes through their human frailties, often through their very eagerness to be most useful. It is hard for grandparents to feel they are not heeded as much as they think they should be by their children and grandchildren.

It's when these grandparents still have their apron strings tied to the married son or daughter that the grandchildren are most likely to be harmed.

Young married women should check up on these matters at once. They should ask themselves: "Must we go at regular or frequent intervals—every week or so —to his home or mine? Will his parents or mine feel hurt if we don't make these regular visits?" As sure as you live, if until a baby arrives such frequent and regular visits are expected, they will be the more expected afterwards.

Avoid Regular Visits

Wise young couples will avoid too frequent regular visits to the parents or in-laws.

Now and then we hear of the young man or woman who on the honeymoon must call his or her parents by long distance or write them daily!

Many a letter do I receive telling me of the grandparents who almost demand that the grandchildren come to stay with them long and often, spoiling these youngsters while there and being offended if the parents try to reduce the visits. Some write they can't afford to offend the grandparents lest they should forget these grandchildren in their wills. Many, of course, write of problems with grandparents living under the same roof.

Good Grandparents

Very few, however, write of the good things they could truly write about grandparents. Very few write of the sacrifices grandmothers choose to make for their married sons and daughters and grandchildren, or of the many sacrifices these parents will thrust upon the grandparents, of the scores of times Grandma keeps the children while the parents go out for good times.

Nor do many write of grandparents who give stability to the home and inspire the grandchildren to want to amount to something, often furnishing funds for their higher education.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My daughter 18 months of age eats dirt. She will go out and get a clod of dirt and eat it all if not taken from her.

A. I advise that a doctor who specializes in diets be consulted. She may lack some elements of food. Also, the attention she gets when she does eat dirt may have proved so satisfying to her as to encourage this act in her. Have some one always with her to keep her from eating dirt when she is where she can get it. It is not a case for punishment.

Save Your Eyes

MONDAY STUDY CLUB HEARS MISS M'DONALD

Prominent Mansfield Musician Is Guest for Program at Mrs. C. H. Bell's Home; Mrs. Weldon Gives Paper.

MISS FLORENCE M'DONALD, prominent in Mansfield musical circles, was a guest yesterday, of the Monday Study club, when it met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Bell, Dickson Parkway.

Miss MacDonald was introduced by Mrs. William Weldon, who read a paper on "Ohio Musical Figures." Mrs. Weldon referred to Mary Hubbell Osborn's book, "Ohio Composers and Musical Authors" which she described as being recent and comprehensive. She spoke on the development of music in Ohio and described Ohio's contributions to the various fields of music. She also reviewed the achievement of Ohio men and women who were famous in musical circles.

At the close of her paper, Mrs. Weldon accompanied Miss MacDonald, at the piano, while she sang several selections. Included in her solos were "It Isn't the Thing You Do, Dear" and "Blue Are Her Eyes" by Wintter Watts, "At Parting" and "The Star" by James Rogers and "Blue Flower" by Kirk Ridge.

Miss MacDonald's last selection, "On the Hilltop" was an original composition, the words of which were written by Blanche Sawyer, a native of Maine and a personal friend of Miss MacDonald. The members of the club joined in singing Christmas carols at the conclusion of the program.

Dessert was served buffet style, with Mrs Henry Huston presiding at the table, which was cleverly decorated in a Christmas manner with a patriotic touch. Mrs. Paul Weir was associate hostess. Mrs. E. K. Brague was an out of town guest. At the short business meeting, it was decided to give a contribution to the Friendly-House as the annual Christmas charity.

Mrs. S. C. Theaker and Mrs. Wilfred Workman will entertain for the next meeting, Jan. 4, at the former's home, 336 Glessner avenue.

CHRISTMAS TEA.

The Christmas tea of the Bethel Bible club was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Linn on Shepard road. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. R. K. Clark Christmas carols were sung by the group and several violin solos were presented by Mr. Fike, whose piano accompaniment was furnished by Mrs. Louis Rahn. Mrs. C. H. Henkel and Mrs. Michael Lons served tea from the beautifully decorated table. On Jan. 11 the club will meet with Mrs. Harvey McFarland on Sunset boulevard.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough medicine. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

DINA CASHMAN + + +

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright, 1942.)

CHAPTER X

Dina returned to find their mother mixing quick biscuits. For 20 years these had pieced the meals Ethel Cashman whipped together for her children, and she made them expertly and well.

"Tom coming back?" she asked.

"He can't. He's starting for Westwood right away. But he's taken another job; he's going to be in south San Francisco," Dina said, her back to her mother.

"Fevvens sakes," Ethel murmured, not too deeply interested. "When's he come down?"

"Thursday." He had reminded her of this in parting. He had said that she must make her plans to leave at once for the east. If Vere positively was at Yale, then she must go to New Haven; Tom would find out all the necessary details about transportation and be ready to buy her ticket. Dina must meanwhile telephone Vere's family and find out his address.

Her soul was shrinking within her at the prospect. "If I had a hundred dollars," Dina thought, "I'd simply get on a bus and go somewhere. I'd disappear.

"Suppose I took it from Tom? But he'd never give it to me. He'll buy my ticket and put me on the train and wire Vere that I'm coming. He's ready to kill Vere, and he'll never like me—he'll never respect me again.

"Other girls do worse than this. Lots of them. College girls and girls like Vere's sisters too! Wait!"

A sudden gleam had shot across her thoughts. Something had reminded her of Vere's mention of an uncle. The uncle who was not married, who was going to leave his property to Vere.

Wouldn't such an uncle be interested enough, be generous enough, to tell her now what would be the wisest thing for her to do? What had Vere said the name was? Robert. Roger. Rogers. That was it! Rogers Holland. But now, how to find him!

"Is Mr. Holland in? Miss Cashman. By—by appointment"

Dina rather faltered the last words. For the butler was a dark and formidable creature, and the atmosphere of the house itself was enough to daunt the stoutest heart.

Mr. Holland was in his library, seated at a large flat-top desk. Dina, for no reason whatsoever, had expected to see a spare, scholarly old man. Instead she found herself in the presence of a person not more than 38 or 40 years of age, a fat, eyeglassed, smiling man with thinning fair hair, who gave the impression of rolling in his chair.

He had been working at a stamp collection; stamps, pale pink, faint green, orange, were segregated in little groups all about him.

"A spider and an owl and a frog!" Dina thought.

He half rose from his chair as she appeared, sank back.

"You'd like to do secretarial work and you've had no experience but you could learn?" he asked.

"No. No," she said, sitting down opposite him. "I don't think, when I telephoned that I said anything like that."

"What did you say? Hinz—that's the old feller who let you in—gave me the message. Who told you I wanted a secretary, anyway? Ever see a stamp collection before? Anyone who wanted to help me would have to know something about stamps. See that feller? Two hundred in the world like him, no more. That little bit of paper's worth ten thousand smacks.

"I'd no idea that any one stamp was worth ten thousand dollars," Dina said, impressed in spite of herself.

"Man offered a million for a stamp once!" Rogers answered, narrowing his eyes triumphantly as he looked up from his magnifying glass. "Well, well, well," he said, sitting back, "let's have it. What's it all about?"

"It's about Vere," Dina said faintly.

"Vere?" He looked up sharply, taken unawares. "What's Vere been up to? You mean my nephew?"

"He and I were friends," she said, "and then before Christmas he went away, and I don't think he knows—I've had no answer to my letters for more than a month. And I have to find him!"

The inflection on the last phrase told the story. Rogers Holland looked steadily at his caller for a silent minute when Dina had finished speaking and then commented only with a brief "Ha!" But he laid aside his magnifying glass and settled back in his chair with an air of sudden attention.

He asked a few short questions. How long had they known each other? Where was the boy now? Back at Yale, hey?

"That's his father's doing," he commented. "Van can't wait to get the boy into his New York office, partly to get away from Caroline. You know Caroline, my brother Van's wife?"

"No. I don't know who she is."

"Vere's mother, she's my sister-in-law or was, when they were together. Proudest woman God ever made, just as his father is the proudest man Caroline is cold as stone, moves over everybody and everything What does she think of all this?"

"She doesn't know," Dina said, beginning to feel cold and frightened

"Oh, she doesn't know? I can't see Caroline feeling exactly pleased when she does," the man said with his sinister smile, speaking as if thinking aloud. "And you want—what? Is the proposition that you marry the boy? That will be a pretty stiff pill for Caroline to swallow. However," he ended dryly, "I can bear that."

"I've written Vere, I had to'" Dina said. "I feel—oh, terribly about it, but what can I do?"

"And he answered?"

"He hasn't answered at all! I don't even know that he had my letter. The last was from Palm Springs—he was there at Christmastime—with his mother—and he just talked about the hotel and the tennis and said he was going back to Yale."

"What makes you think that he will fall in with this arrangement?"

"What—what else can I think?"

"It's not going to help him much with his father, you know."

"I suppose not." She fell miserably silent. "I thought," she presently began again, "that I'd go away—go off somewhere—earn my own living—if I just had enough money to start with."

"I might loan you money enough to go on and join him," Rogers said with a twisted smile. "I'd like to be there when you meet Caroline. I suppose she's gone on with him?"

"He didn't say." Dina was beginning to be frightened of this smiling fat man.

"Suppose," Rogers said, "you give him time to answer you. Then, if you don't hear in a week or two, come back here again If your story is true, it would give me a certain satisfaction," he added, drawing out the words slowly, as if they gave him satisfaction too. "To have a hand in separating Caroline and her ewe lamb.

"She's spoiled him; she's given him his way ever since he was born. To have him faced with one of those little realities that life is continually handing us. Miss—" He looked down at her name scribbled on a pad of paper before him "Miss Cashman," he went on, "would help to settle an old score I have always despised her" he added on a hard note.

"I don't envy you your mother-in-law! Yes, I'll help you. Oh, and by the way, in his letters from the south," Rogers said, an odd expression taking possession of his round face as he looked critically at a stamp, "did Vere happen to mention the bride and groom?"

"The—the bride and groom?" she stammered.

"The Andrew Havenses," the man said briefly

"No No; he said that his mother had lots of friends down there But he didn't mention any names" Dina was completely bewildered

"Mrs Havens was Aline Pierpont; we were all kids here together," Rogers explained "I was always crazy about her. Her first husband was a man named Pollack, and she has a couple of kids by him I wasn't married until after she was, although I'm a few years older. I suppose I sort of hoped that she—"

He paused, began again. "Well, anyway, after some years she divorced Pollack and married an awfully clever doctor in New York, Rosenstirn," he went on. "My wife, Anna, was an invalid then; I didn't see anything of Aline for some time. But after my wife's death she came back here to divorce Rosenstirn, and last summer we began to go around together In November we told our friends we were going to be married—two weeks from today, as it happens"

"Ah!" Dina exclaimed involuntarily, her lips parted and her eyes wide.

"Just a month ago," Rogers said unemotionally, lifting a stamp in his tweezers to peer at it, putting it gently down again, "she changed her mind and married Andrew Havens, the artist. I'm entertaining them a week from tonight."

He leaned back in his chair, clasped his fingers on his chest, looked across at her amiably

"I wouldn't do that!" Dina said indignantly.

"You wouldn't? Well, she asked me to," Rogers went on. "She made a point of it. I've invited quite a group of old friends to come here and share the delightful domestic picture of bliss she and Havens will present. She wants us all to like her new husband, she says he and I are to be great friends. She'll wear one of the costumes she bought in New York last autumn to wear as my wife. And I'll have to be very gracious when she shows us all the cute little wave in his hair and tells us what he likes for breakfast.

He stopped short, making a wry mouth, investigating a desk drawer. Dina breathed hard.

"I wouldn't do it!" she said again, red-cheeked.

"Well, I'm going to. I wish I knew some perfectly stunning woman, say around forty," Rogers added ruminatingly. "An actress—someone who could wear an evening gown—who wasn't too obviously ungrammatical—wait a minute!"

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Dec. 16.

A moderately progressive and routine day with little of excitement is presaged from the mutual and lunar aspects. However, it may be necessary to curb impetuous or erratic conduct in both private and business associations The judgment may not be sound and it may be difficult to meet sinister or intriguing situations. With proper consideration it may be well to forge ahead.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of moderate progress and fulfilled ambitions, although it will demand sound logic and wisdom to circumvent various pitfalls and sinister situations. The mind may trend toward the erratic and impulsive and the emotions may be wanting in prudence and discretion. With extraordinary care there is hope of satisfactory culminations.

A child born on this day should have much ambition and enterprise although it may have erratic and temperamental outbursts.

Pottery-making is one of the oldest forms of human industry. In Egypt it was practiced in the 20th Century B C

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

It took all the will power I possessed to keep my face and eyes from revealing the shock Olina's revelation gave me. So this was what had been at the root of her attempts to lure Noel from his allegiance to his wife?

Happily Olina had since come to her senses; she and Mary were friends, with Noel distinctly in the background where Olina was concerned But this recital of a deliberate, revengeful plot against Mary's happiness so roused my old resentment and dislike that I was afraid she might feel their impact.

Pity For Olina.

Then, as I looked down at her head, bowed down against my knees in shamed humiliation, I felt my pity for her returning. After all, she had been the loser and Mary the fortunate one in the whole affair. Mary not only had the adoration of Noel, whom she loved, but also, if Olina had not been mistaken in her premise, the love of Georges, to whom Olina had given her heart.

But had Olina been mistaken? That miniature of Mary in Georges' watch fob was of course conclusive of a jealous woman, but was there anything else to bolster her belief?

"What did Georges say, Olina, when the watch fob revealed Mary's miniature?" I asked.

"Say? He didn't say anything. He never knew I'd seen it," quickly raising her head.

"I did not open it The fall had done that. I noticed the sparkle of tiny diamonds ornamenting the fob, and when I picked it up Mary's pictured face smiled up at me.

"My years of rigid training stood me in good stead at that moment," she said "Otherwise that miniature would have been ground to pieces beneath my heel. But I forced myself to close the fob, left it exactly where it had fallen and hurried out of the room. I knew that when Georges missed it, he would hurry back to look for it, and not for worlds would I have had him suspect that I had seen Mary's portrait. You can understand that, can't you?"

"Of course, Olina," I told her.

"The next time I saw him the watch fob was in its place and from that moment I began to plot the breaking of our engagement.

"Georges did not know what to make of me. I appeared moody, jealous of everybody and given to explosive tantrums. He has a temper of his own, and it was not long before we had a bitter quarrel and our engagement was broken That was after he became king of Trees, and when he agreed that the engagement be broken, there was nothing Mama could do

"The rest of the story you know as well as I do," Olina said—"the revolution in Transvania, our flight there, and the despicable manner in which I tried to carry out my vow of revenge against Mary. You know too, I think, how I gradually came to my senses and became a woman instead of a vindictive child. As for Georges," Olina concluded, "I have never seen him since our quarrel. But—I have not forgotten him. And if he did send me that fan letter, Aunt Madge, don't you think it may mean that he is thinking of me?"

It's Easy! Here's How:

KNOX SPREAD

1 envelope Knox Gelatine — 1 lb. butter
¼ cup cold water — 1 14½-oz can evaporated milk
1 teaspoonful salt

1. Soften gelatine in ¼ cup cold water.
2. Dissolve thoroughly over hot water.
3. Cut butter into small pieces and heat over hot water until soft enough to beat. But do not melt the butter.
4. Add dissolved gelatine and salt to the milk. Gradually whip milk into butter with a Dover egg beater or electric mixer until milk does not separate.
5. Add coloring if desired.
6. Pack in dish or container and place in refrigerator until hard. Keep in refrigerator when not in use.

NOTE: Fresh milk may be substituted for the evaporated milk in which case use a pint of milk (preferably the top half of a quart bottle), and soften the gelatine in one-fourth cup milk taken from that pint.

Mansfield Provident Loan girls expect to play softball again next summer in spite of gasoline rationing, rubber shortage, and the fact that they said goodbye last night to their captain of last summer, Donna Schuster, and have also lost their second sacker, Jean Herrick.

Donna and Jean are both in the WAACs with Donna just beginning training at Daytona Beach, Fla., and Jean having finished four weeks of basic training at Des Moines, Iowa, last Saturday.

Gas rationing may also cost the Providents Pitcher Fran Knapp of New London, and the players they imported last summer from Elyria, Ashland and other points. And still they expect to play.

"The outlook really isn't so bad," Business Manager F. L. "Doc" Daugherty declared Sunday at a dinner party for Donna at the Daugherty home on Poplar street.

"Ohio softball officials believe teams will get gas allowance for traveling next summer, in order that the fans will stay home to see the games, and we are counting on being able to make game trips even if we can't get gas for collecting girls over a wide area for practice sessions

"And we've heard that other teams are expecting to play again next summer, so we'll have opponents."

* * *

Acting on the decision to go ahead next season, the Providents did some reorganizing in their official ranks. Ev Jocha was named field manager to replace the recently elected Donna Schuster, while Ruth Whiteman moved up to the captain's job vacated by Ev.

Mary Bessemer is club treasurer and LaVonna Schaefer secretary.

Now that the girls are organized again, all they have to do is get a team together, and Daugherty doesn't believe that will be such a hard job.

Daugherty has heard that there are quite a few good softball players among the girls taking factory training at the N. Y. A. camp, and some have already gotten jobs in town and expect to stay here.

Alice Iceman, the New London pitcher, hopes to be working in Mansfield by next summer, but she probably will be on the receiving end of the Provident battery instead of pitching. Mary Bessemer putting aside the catching paraphernalia for a job at second base or in the outfield.

And now LaVonna Schaefer is talking about joining the WAVES as soon as she graduates from high school in June.

Declares Nettlow Never Had Chance

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Al "The Vest" Weill thought he had it all figured out for his boy, Al Nettlow, to upset undefeated Ray "Sugar" Robinson in a 10-rounder at Convention hall last night

That was before the fight started. Eleven minutes after it got under way Weill stepped it by calling referee Matt Adgie over between the third and fourth rounds and whispering in his ear. Adgie hurried over to Robinson's corner and raised the Negro's hand in token of a three round technical knockout.

Thus Robinson, hard-hitting Harlem negro chalked up his 40th straight victory as a professional and his 29th knockout

"Didn't have a chance" Weill said.

At the very start Nettlow backed into a corner, straightened up and was promptly bounced off the canvas by a flurry of savage lefts and rights. Nettlow jumped up before a count was started, but it was obvious that the only question was how long Nettlow could "take it."

He proved his gameness for three rounds. The 7,868 spectators contributed to a gross gate of $17,203.50.

Robinson weighed 144¾ pounds to Nettlow's 147.

BULLDOGS STUDY

ATHENS, Ga. (INS)—Another running drill was on the schedule today for the University of Georgia Bulldogs in preparation for their Rose Bowl game against U. C. L. A. due to press of school work, not all members of the squad have been able to report at the practice sessions, but Coach Wallace Butts has announced twice-daily scrimmage drills on the coast. The Bulldogs entrain Friday morning.

Cardinal Stars Top Pitchers

Mort Cooper and Johnny Beazley Lead National.

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Morton Cooper and Johnny Beazley, the righthanded mound stars of the St. Louis Cardinals, received confirmation from the official figures of the National league today as the outstanding pitchers of the year in the senior circuit.

* * *

Cooper, already acclaimed as the most valuable player in the league, topped all pitchers in earned run average with a sensational 1.77 while finishing second in winning percentage. Beazley, the frosty-nerved 21-year-old rookie who now is a corporal in the army, was second in earned run average with 2.13 and first in winning percentage among pitchers participating in at least 10 complete games. Beazley's won-lost record was 21-6 and Cooper's 22-7.

A second classification in the averages, listing pitchers who appeared in a minimum of ten games, but not ten complete games, was topped by the veteran Lefty Larry French of Brooklyn, who won 15 games and lost four while compiling a low earned run average of 1.82 per nine-inning game. In this same group Ace Adams of the New York Giants had an earned run average of 1.84 and Max Macon of the Brooklyn Dodgers 1.93.

Cooper, 27-year-old Missouri farmer, compiled the most remarkable pitching record in a decade in the National league, his ERA was the lowest since Southpaw Carl Hubbell was in his prime for the Giants and set his mark of 1.66 in 1933. Cooper pitched ten shutouts and this also was the most any hurler had accomplished since Hubbell administered the same number of white-washings in 1933.

In addition, Cooper scored the most victories, 22, and started the most games, 35.

Eleven pitchers appearing in at least ten complete games had less than three earned runs per nine-inning session They were Cooper 1.77, Beazley, 213; Curt Davis, Brooklyn, 2:36; John Vander Meer, Cincinnati, 2.43; Bill Lohrman, New York, 2.47; Cliff Melton, New York, 2.63; Ray Starr, Cincinnati, 2.66; Bucky Walters, Cincinnati, 2.66; Claude Passeau, Chicago, 2.69, Lon Warneke, St. Louis and Chicago, 2.73, and Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn, 2.74.

Rated on winning percentage, the eleven leading pitchers with at least ten complete games were Beazley 21-6; Cooper 22-7; Lohrman 14-5; Wyatt 19-7; Davis 15-6; Melton 11-5; Vander Meer 18-12; Kirby Higbe, Brooklyn, 16-11; Hubbell 11-8; Passeau 19-14, and Starr 15-13.

Cooper and Beazley were the only pitchers with the Cardinals all season who pitched ten complete contests, but any doubt about St. Louis having the best pitching staff was dispelled by the club records which showed the Cardinal staff as a whole with an earned run average of 2.55 compared to 2.82 for the Cincinnati Reds' flingers in second place.

Adams of the Giants set a couple of records for relief hurling—pitching in 61 games and finishing 49—but the figures showed the real workhorse of the season was Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves, who pitched the most complete games, 28, most innings 288, faced most batsmen 1,224, allowed the most runs 145, the most earned runs 127, and lost the most games, 21. He also found time one day to hit three home runs in one game, but that's another story.

Two Philadelphia hurlers dominated the lack of control department, John Podgajny hitting the most batters, 11, and Reuben Frank (Rube) Melton handing out the most bases on balls, 114, and making the most wild pitches Tom Hughes of the Phils also allowed the most sacrifice hits, 27.

Passeau gave up the most hits, 284, an Vander Meer led in strikeouts for the second straight year with 186

Chicago and Cincinnati, by using six pitchers apiece in the 18-inning first game of a doubleheader Aug. 8, set a record for the number of pitchers used in a single game. The old mark was 11.

* * *

One of the interesting revelations of the figure was that Lohrman, Chil Melton and Higbe tied for the best record of winning complete games. Counting only the contests that they started and finished, each won 11 and lost only one.

PRO GOLFERS SWING FOR SWEET CHARITY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A program of matches between all available professional golfers, with all proceeds going to charity, will replace the 1943 PGA title tournament, Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers association, said today.

Corcoran, currently awaiting a call to go overseas for the Red Cross, said he conferred with President Ed Dudley of the PGA several days ago and they decided to abandon next year's page tourney, chiefly because over 200 members of the association are in service.

JOINS MARINES

SOUTH BEND, Ind. —(INS— Larry Sullivan, senior left tackle on the Notre Dame football squad, was on his way today to report for officer training in the Marine Corps Reserve at Parris Island, S. C. Sullivan, who hails from Brockton, Mass., won his monogram during the last football season. He will be unable to attend commencement exercises Sunday, but his degree will be mailed him.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The other day Chief Bender remarked that "old men" of 40 ought to be able to play big-league baseball if they could keep their nerves under control, and Navy Lieut. Jim McMillen the ex-rassler added that we all ought to be ashamed when men of 38 aren't in good enough condition for the army. . . . Maybe they're both right, but since baseball obviously is easier than combat fighting, we'll merely add our two bits worth to the Chief's idea. . . . Baseball may become a game for 40-year-olds before very long and as a columnist approaching that age, we don't see why they couldn't make those 20-yard sprints between bases or even run twice as far after a fly without losing very many limbs.

SCOUTING REPORTS.

When Georgia's Frankie Sinkwich and Columbia's Paul Governali got togther at the recent Heisman trophy clambake, they recalled their first meeting when the Bulldogs played the Lions here last year. . . . Frankie had been told that if he got past the Columbia safety man he could score standing up, so he was quite surprised when Governali overhauled him on a long run. . . . "I was told you weren't that fast," Sinkwich said as they got up. . . . Governali looked at the harness Frankie was wearing to protect his busted jaw. . . . "I was told you couldn't talk," he replied.

Notre Dame Wins Overtime Battle

CHICAGO—(AP)— Rugged early season basketball schedules in the Big Ten have begun to show their wearing effects, with Wisconsin being the first team among the conference's top flighters to be cancelled from the unbeaten class

* * *

The Badgers were harnessed by Notre Dame last night, 61 to 59, in a stirring overtime encounter, and thus lost their first game in three starts while the Irish ran up their fourth straight win.

* * *

Chicago was lowered, 53 to 40, by Marquette. While Iowa was having trouble stumbling around Little Carleton, 46 to 43, and Purdue was finding it hard to beat Butler, 44 to 35.

Indiana smashed Fort Knox, 64 to 19 and Illinois recorded its third triumph by downing Missouri, 51 to 30.

THEATERS

Musical Spectacle.

Carmen Miranda, Latin America's gift to the movies, punctuates "Springtime in the Rockies," the Ohio attraction, with fun and Portugese rhythms plus her own particular version of "Chattanooga Choo-Choo." Harry James and His Music Makers, Cesar Romero, John Payne and Betty Grable top the cast and Edward Everett Horton and Charlotte Greenwood are among the players. The picture filmed in technicolor against eye-filling Lake Louise, concerns Payne's efforts, as one-half of a dance team, to persuade Miss Grable to be his partner again.

Comedy With Music.

Stage, screen and radio personalities fill "Seven Days Leave," patriotic film musical at the Madison. Victor Mature, Lucille Ball, Ginny Simms and the bands of Freddy Martin and Les Brown are the headliners. Mature as a draftee does all right in romance until he is forced to marry a socialite on short order if he wants to inherit a hundred thousand dollars. Lucille Ball is the socialite and Mapy Cortes plays a singer and the former object of Mature's affections. Lynn, Royce and Vanya, eccentric dance trio, are cast. "Boston Blackie Goes Hollywood," with Chester Morris is the co-feature.

Dancing Film.

Fred Astaire trips the light fantastic with two partners in "Holiday Inn," the Ritz attraction that teams Bing Crosby with Astaire. Virginia Dale and Marjorie Reynolds are the partners who are first discovered by Crosby and then spirited away to fame by Astaire. Irving Berlin's music, including the popular, "White Christmas," furnishes background for the show that has its local at a Connecticut Inn open only on holidays. Walter Abel is in the cast. "The World at War," the government's first full-length motion picture shares the bill.

Spy Melodrama.

The unseen star of "Invisible Agent," the spy melodrama showing at the Park is John Fulton, camera wizard, whose technique is responsible for erasing the leading character, Jon Hall, off the screen whenever the latter's role called for his disappearance. Hall plays the role of a United Nations' secret operative who penetrates Nazi sanctums through his ability to become invisible. Ilona Massey, Peter Lorre and Sir Cedric Hardwicke are in the cast. John Beal in "One Thrilling Night," with Wanda McKay is the co-feature.

WEAK ON DEFENSE

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—Georgia's Tech's Yellow Jackets made a good showing on offense but were weak on defense as they went through the first hard scrimmage of their preparations for the Cotton Bowl game against Texas.

PAM— Disappointment! By A. W. Brewerton

THAT CERTAINLY SOUNDED AS IF SHE WERE SUSPICIOUS, ALL RIGHT--WHAT ANNA SAID TO MR. WERNER ABOUT HIS BEING UP SO LATE! WONDER HOW MUCH SHE HEARD ?
THOUGH SLEEPY FROM THE NIGHT BEFORE, PAM AGAIN STAYED UP LATE WATCHING ANNA'S WINDOW
NO, SIR! SHE'S NOT SENDING ANY SIGNALS OR MESSAGES TONIGHT!
THAT WORRIES ME!
LONG PAST THE TIME SHE DID IT LAST NIGHT NOW!
AND ON A NEAR BY HOUSETOP-- RIGHT THEN!
THAT'S HER ROOM, ALL RIGHT, BUT IT STAYS DARK!
NOTHING DOING TONIGHT, I GUESS, DAVE
OH, DEAR! MAYBE SHE GOT SCARED-- HAS ALREADY LEFT HERE!

DEAF

IS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL

XMAS GIFT

ORTHO-TRONIC WILL ALWAYS BE A REAL FRIEND IN NEED

Grandmothers, slightly and severely deafened, enjoy sermons, radio, movies and are once again in the family circle.

NO NEED NOW TO BE BLACKED-OUT BY DEAFNESS WHEN YOU NOW CAN HEAR SO BEAUTIFULLY, AND ENJOY LIFE FULLY.

Western Electric Ortho-tronic VACUUM TUBE AUDIPHONE

MADE BY MAKERS OF BELL TELEPHONES

Poor Eyesight Requires Eyeglasses. Poor Hearing Demands An Ortho-Tronic

Ortho-Tronic is specially recommended for those who have nerve-deafness, or very nervous people. The special exclusive features in Ortho-Tronic enable people to hear beautifully again.

AVOID STRAIN

Hearing loss generally involves severe nerve strain with many complications frequently arising. It puts a greater strain on eyesight to compensate. Often it tends towards nervous irritability. Today you can relax—and hear when you want to and need to with Ortho-Tronic.

ADJUSTABLE TONE DISCRIMINATOR

AN EXCLUSIVE FEATURE

THIS ATTORNEY SAYS:

"I changed to Ortho-Tronic because I had never been able to hear a voice intelligibly amidst noise or the background babble of other voices such as is prevalent in restaurants. The special tone-discriminator on Ortho-Tronic actually eliminates this very annoying objection of the other hearing aids."

IN BUSINESS, TRADE, OR PROFESSION

Many men and women have waited—until they were out of a job—to overcome their handicap and wear an aid. Hearing loss cannot be concealed—unless it is mistaken for sullenness or stupidity. Properly fitted with Ortho-Tronic you can hold your own in any normal job or position—and keep your voice and articulation natural.

INCONSPICUOUS, CONVENIENT, WEARABLE

Ortho-Tronic is worn in concealment by a woman and in a man is less conspicuous than a pair of spectacles.

Can you imagine a mother's joy when she watches her little boy, or girl, hearing, who has been deaf since a baby? Bell Telephone Laboratories' new Ortho-Tronic hearing aid is doing this, here in Mansfield.

HEAR! LIVE AGAIN!

WHAT IS HEARING LOSS DOING TO YOUR SPEECH . . . AND THE VOICES OF THOSE YOU LOVE?

ARE YOU SENSITIVE?

If so, think how hard you are making it for your wife, or family or friends. You do not realize how much of hearing you are and others will not tell you as they do not want to hurt your feelings. Probably you constantly avoid people and lose away from many pleasures. Many times you make believe you hear when you do not, perhaps. Possibly you interrupt others talking without knowing it. You will help your wife, family and friends by wearing Ortho-Tronic.

STOCK MARKET CHANGES HELD TO THIN LINE

Only Slight Variations In Price Lists Discovered In Early Trading.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Small variations either way continued in today's early stock market proceedings.

Up a shade were U. S. Rubber and Montgomery Ward. Minor declines were posted for American Telephone, Chrysler, Anaconda, and Woolworth.

Market analysts noted the summary of the Federal Reserve board estimating loans to commerce, industry and agriculture by member banks in 101 cities during the week ended Dec. 9 decreased $35,000,000.

19 Cincinnati Fire Companies Fight Utility Building Flames.

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Nineteen fire companies today fought a spectacular 10-alarm fire that threatened to completely destroy a storage and testing building of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric company a company representative said the loss is expected to be "very large."

Folks Who Use Their Heads About Men's Gifts . . .

First of all select the store men have confidence in all year 'round.

Then they know . . . no matter what they choose . . . or what the price . . . $1 or $100 . . . the gift they tie their holly to will be a QUALITY article.

They know too . . . if the size or selection isn't right . . . the store will make it so . . .

So . . . in other words . . . if folks use their heads about Men's Gifts . . . they come to—

Matthes & Clothing

14 S. Main St.

. . this Christmas Day!

Home is a long way from our men fighting in the jungles of Guadalcanal and the sands of Tunisia — yet not too far for thoughts and hopes to travel on Christmas Day. But millions of other young men in uniform are closer to the ones they love and the places they want to be—near enough for fleeting visits home to brighten the Holidays for themselves and their families.

Men on leave naturally deserve first call on transportation—and get it. But because gasoline rationing for private motor cars has added so greatly to the civilian need for Greyhound service, the cooperation of every traveler is more important now.

You will find it more comfortable to take your trip before the heaviest Holiday rush—and to return after it's over. Voluntarily saving a bus seat for a soldier or a sailor the week before Christmas — that's the American way. At the same time, you'll be aiding the buses to carry as many as possible of all those who have reason to travel.

To help our boys get home, many of us can easily stay home during the Holidays!

UNEVEN TRENDS STILL CLOUDING STOCK MARKET

WPB Releases Equipment For Railroads Which Had Been Frozen Earlier.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Trends remained slightly uneven in today's early stock market dealings.

Up a shade at a quiet opening were American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, Liggett & Myers "B," Baltimore & Ohio, Johns-Manville and Republic Steel. Minor declines were posted for Chrysler, Socony-Vacuum, U. S. Steel and Standard Oil (NJ.)

Boardrooms scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that the "war production board has released some locomotive and freight car orders, which had been frozen earlier in the year, as a start toward the equipment desired by the carriers for 1943."

The review added that readjustment of the armament program was causing certain cancellations and larger replacements elsewhere might not serve to take up the slack.

MILLERSBURG — Common pleas court: Peter H. Domer of Sugarcreek has filed a foreclosure suit against Moses J. Miller, Nancy J. Miller, Topeka, Ind., David D. Barkman and Samuel A. Troyer, Sugarcreek route, and the Federal Land bank of Louisville, Ky., asking foreclosure of a mortgage.

The plaintiff claims $1,800 with six per cent interest from May 1931, is due on a promissory note. The note was secured by a mortgage on the real estate in Clark township, Holmes county. Defendants, David D. Barkman, Samuel A. Troyer and the Federal Land bank have an interest in the land and are asked to set up claims.

Probate court: Theodore Gelb has been appointed guardian of George William Lemon, a minor, and furnished bond in the sum of $1,000.

In matter of trusteeship of estate of Ora A. Koch, the court grants Reuben Hostetler, trustee for Robert Thomas Elliott, under Koch will authority to invest $1,500 in U. S. government bonds.

MARRIED OCT. 10

MILLERSBURG — Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mabel Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of Niagara Falls, N. Y., to Carl Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bishop, South Washington street, Millersburg.

The wedding took place in the First Baptist church in Niagara Falls, N. Y., Saturday evening, Oct. 10. After a wedding trip to the south, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will live in Niagara Falls.

Bishop has been employed as a supervisor in the chemical engineering department of the Carborundum plant in that city since his graduation from Ohio State university five years ago.

STUDY PLANS FOR COUNCIL CLEAN-UP MEET

Officials Hope to Dispose of All '42 Financial Problems Before Year's End.

In order to clear up all 1942 financial affairs of the city, Mayor W. J. Locke said today he will confer at once with members of council on the advisability of a meeting the latter part of this week.

Service Director Fred B. Wolff and City Engineer W. E. Statler said today there are several minor fund transfers which must be acted on before Jan. 31.

Locke intimated today that the special session of council will be asked to consider pay increases petitioned for by virtually all city employes.

Police and fire department members are asking a boost of $25 monthly for each member, the same figure being asked by most salaried employes in other departments, hourly wage workers asking a hike of 15 cents an hour.

Computations by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley indicate that the annual increase to the city would approximate $55,000 in event the maximum requests are granted. However, in a letter to the city investment board a week ago protesting the investment of idle city money in war bonds, Mayor W. J. Locke cited "contemplated pay increases of around $25,000."

This would indicate that salary committee members and the mayor have conferred on the pay pleas although no confirmation could be obtained from either salary committee members. Second Ward Councilman C. N. Shultz did say at the last council meeting that a "new item" exceeding $20,000 would have to be considered in the 1943 expenses, probably a reference to the pay boost.

Proposals for the improvement of Grover avenue and of East Arch street from Cleveland to Jeanette avenues will be presented at the next meeting. Transfer of funds to meet 1942 improvement costs also will be considered.

There have been reports also that council will act favorably on an ordinance proposing appropriation of $6,000 for construction of the Sycamore storm sewer, an improvement sought by Third ward property owners for 10 years.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The navy announced today that American air forces in the South Pacific had poured more bombs on the Japanese air base at Munda on New Georgia island on Dec. 14, the fifth day of such attacks.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — American jungle fighters, supported by Australians, stormed into Buna village yesterday and heavy fighting raged about the Japanese-held Buna mission to the east today while Allied bombers smashed at new enemy invasion expeditions put ashore by a strong cruiser and destroyer force at two points farther up the New Guinea coast.

The Americans slashed their way into the village five days after the capture of Gona, 12 miles to the northwest. These were the main bases of the foothold established by the Japanese last July 23 in their closest thrust toward northeast Australia.

(War front dispatches reaching Melbourne said the Allies were squeezing the Japanese from three sides on the central sector of the Gona-Buna battleground, with Australians and Americans attacking through the center at Sananda point, above Buna village.)

Despite the frightful cost in men and supplies inflicted upon the new Japanese landing operations, a headquarters communique indicated some reinforcements were put ashore by the heavily protected convoy standing off the mouths of the Ku-

Crowd's Calm As Fire Hits Large Pittsburgh Hotel

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— One fireman died from smoke and more than 100 others were overcome early today in fighting a stubborn, long-smoldering fire in the second sub-basement of the 22-story William Penn hotel.

The flames were confined to the basement storeroom and none of the 1,000 guests were injured, although several hundred left their smoke-filled rooms in pajamas.

Flames of unknown origin broke out about 11 o'clock last night in the basement room where hotel furnishings were stored.

Smoke rolled up into the fashionable Chatterbox cabaret, two floors above the fire, where there was a small Monday night crowd of about 50, including 20 service men.

Band Leader Art Ravel announced quietly:

"Due to smoky conditions we request that you leave and go to the terrace (main dining) room upstairs." The crowd and the bandmen calmly complied. Music resumed. A half hour later, when smoke began coming into the terrace room, the diplomatic Raval again spoke up: "Due to the same smoky conditions we will have to discontinue service tonight."

The crowd began leaving.

After a six-hour battle, firemen said the blaze was under control.

SET TO QUIT

Quorum Lacking in House as Congress Waits Adjournment.

WASHINGTON- (INS)- A resolution for adjournment of the 77th congress may be laid before the senate today, with Democratic leaders hopeful of bringing the session to a close either tomorrow or Thursday.

Leaders, however, were faced by the almost unprecedented situation that one man could block the adjournment by calling for a quorum of the house, which admittedly is not present in Washington.

As a result of this situation, Democratic and Republican leaders united in an effort to forestall "trouble-makers" from robbing the legislature of a two-weeks respite before it plunges into a new session of the 78th congress. All major business had been scrapped except for efforts to increase salaries of 2,600,000 government employes on demand of President Roosevelt.

PRODUCTION, NEW WEAPONS SEEN AS KEY

Official Reports Indicate Some Giant Planes Now on Way To Fronts.

SECRET GUNS HINTED

Overwhelming Drives Against Axis Expected To Dwarf Present Action.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON - American air, sea and land forces, according to all available indications, should have by late next summer the weapons to begin a series of overwhelmingly powerful drives against the Axis.

The battles which will then ensue, particularly in the Pacific, probably will make most of the actions to date look like glorified skirmishes.

This picture comes from recent official disclosures on the production of giant planes, aircraft carriers and battleships and other formidable new weapons or improved types of old ones.

Here are the high spots of those disclosures:

Bombing planes—great new bombers are on the way and may soon begin to show up in small numbers on the world's fighting fronts. Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of army airforces, said in a speech Sunday that they would make the present flying fortresses look just like small planes.

Judged by usual standards of secrecy, Arnold's revelation of the existence of these giants certainly was not made until they were actually in production. Assuming that long-range plans for quantity output were made long since, they should be reaching the battle zones in quantity six or eight months from now. Only last night the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., announced development of a "radical" new tank-carrying cargo plane which also can transport guns, ammunition, supplies and troops to distant fronts.

Aircraft carriers since last July three regular carriers and three carriers converted from cruisers which were still on the

PAPER DELIVERY STILL STALLED

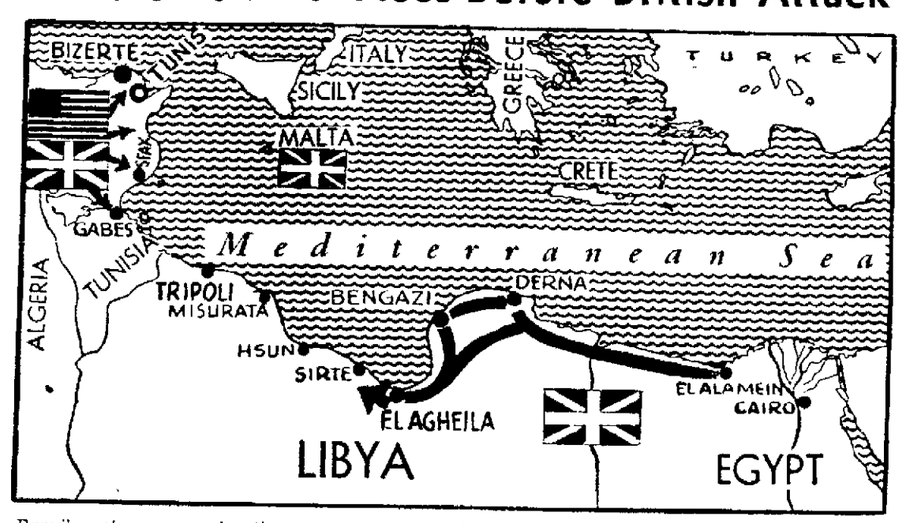
New Yorkers Go Without 8 Major Newspapers Second Day.

NEW YORK —(INS)- No deliveries of New York City's eight major newspapers were made for the second successive day today as further conferences were arranged in an attempt to end the strike of some 2,000 members of the mail deliverers' union.

The publishers, whose combined circulation totals 3,500,000 copies, awaited word from Washington in reply to their appeal for intervention by "proper government authorities."

Editorial and production staffs worked as usual. Editions were run off as usual but no deliveries were made. Those desiring newspapers had to obtain them at the plants.

Where Rommel Flees Before British Attack



Rapidly, the arrow in the above map, which indicates the retreat of Field Marshal Rommel's Africa corps westward from El Alamein, is extending itself toward Tripoli. It began moving again last week-end when the British re-opened their attack and drove the Axis forces from El Agheila without a struggle. With the British now in hot pursuit of Rommel's forces there are hints from North Africa that the retreat may not even stop at Tripoli but will continue to Tunisia where Hitler may have elected that his forces should make their final stand.

Meets Tonight On Plan To Allow Bates To Stay With FBI

At their meeting tonight in City hall the Mansfield Civil Service commission will seek means whereby Meade K. Bates can continue his service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation without imperiling his seniority rights as on-leave police chief, Attorney George W. Biddle, commission president, announced today.

Romaine E. Sheeringer, 501 Sloane avenue, chief clerk for the Ohio Public Service company, will sit with the board for the first time, having been appointed by Mayor W. J. Locke to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. C. Mansfield, now examiner for the area rent office.

"The commission has no intent or desire," President Biddle said, "to hamper the FBI nor to penalize Bates for performing federal service. There has been no pressure exerted on the board to influence Bates' status, so far as I know, and my wish is to maintain the board in a way to merit and have the public's confidence."

Biddle said that the board is confined by state law and court rulings to granting not more than one year of leave to Civil Service employes except on their entry into the armed forces. "The state law," he pointed out, "refers to the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard or other similar service."

"If we can reach agreement that 'other similar service' is broad enough to embrace the FBI we will be glad to do so," Biddle declared. "It appears evident that when the state lawmakers compiled the code they would have included such federal service if they could have foreseen the FBI need of drafting qualified police officers into its ranks. Admittedly, the FBI is really an armed force, an integral factor of the war effort and as such, entitled to first consideration."

Biddle said he is confident that, because of an apparent unanimous interest in the successful prosecution of the war in every manner possible, the public will approve his suggestion that, other avenues being closed, Bates be requested to resume his duties as police chief

Sammons Quits Gas Panel, Althouse Succeeds Him.

T. R. Sammons, member of the gasoline panel of the Richland county war price and rationing board since its inception early in November, announced his resignation effective today.

William Althouse, architect, who has served on the gas advisory board during the recent ration registration period, takes a seat on the panel, W. J. Spreng, chairman, announced.

Sammons, accompanied by Mrs. Sammons, leaves tonight by train for a brief business visit in Washington, going from there to Florida for a health sojourn. On his return Sammons will assume Althouse's place on the advisory board.

Charles C. Beelman, ration board chairman, today called a meeting of all Richland county gasoline dealers and tire inspectors for 8 p. m. Thursday in the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school auditorium for discussions on gas rationing and tire inspections.

GET DIPLOMAS IF INDUCTED

Mansfield, Shelby Seniors To Get Sheepskins If Army Calls Them Early.

Mansfield and Shelby high school seniors who are called for arms induction before the end of the first semester next month probably will get their diplomas anyway, although they will not complete their school year, school officials said today.

The state department of education today placed the decision on giving diplomas to inducted seniors in the hands of boards of education and superintendents.

Selective service board clerks said there was little likelihood that any Mansfield seniors will be called before the second semester and in that event they may request deferment until the end of the school year.

Shelby and other county high schools, however, probably will be faced with the question of

NAME VICTIMS

Authorities Still Identifying Those Burned at St. Johns.

ST JOHNS, NEWFOUNDLAND (U.P.) - Authorities today sought to complete identification of 100 bodies recovered from the ashes of the Knights of Columbus hostel for service men.

Twenty-two victims of the fire Saturday night had not been identified. Most of the bodies were so badly charred the chief means of identifying them was pocketbooks, watches, letters and photographs. Some bodies may have been completely consumed; 102 were injured, some critically.

Officials said the names of American, Canadian and Newfoundland service men killed would be released simultaneously in Ottawa, Washington and St. Johns, perhaps today. At least 20 Americans among the 550 men and women attending a barn dance in the hostel were believed to have died.

STATE OF SIEGE

Bolivian Government Acts To Halt Disturbances.

LA PAZ, Bolivia — (U.P.) - The government decreed a state of siege in the entire country today following disturbances by "extremist elements" in the Catavi mining district.

Declaring that the disorders were hampering production in the mining area, the decree dispatched army units to guard mines and transportation facilities.

Reports Assert Rommel to Aid Tunisian Fight

Nazi Leader Rumored To Have Left Hotly Pursued Africa Corps To Direct Bizerte Defense As Naples Reveals Air Blow.

(By United Press)

LONDON—The German Afrika Korps, hotly pursued across Tripolitania by the British Eighth army, may be preparing to forfeit its great base at Tripoli without a fight and retire into Tunisia for a last stand, front dispatches said today.

There were unconfirmed reports here that Marshal Erwin Rommel himself had abandoned his retreating army after the British break-through at El Agheila and had gone to Bizerte to take charge of the defense of Tunisia. Axis troops and supplies already are pouring into eastern Tunisia from Tripoli, front dispatches said, indicating that Adolf Hitler considered the Tunisian bridgehead more important than a defense of what is left of Benito Mussolini's African empire.

The Axis was under heavy pressure all along the North African battle line. American planes hammered at German bases on the Tunisian coast and the RAF gave the retreating Afrika Korps no respite. Radio Morocco broadcast a report that the Germans were suffering heavily as they fled westward along the coastal road from El Agheila and listed the 15th and 21st panzer divisions, the 54th German infantry division and a German light division as being among the retreating troops.

The Italian high command broadcast a report that Naples was bombed last night, indicating the Allies may still be attempting to choke off Axis reinforcement from Italy, but there was no confirmation of the report from Allied sources.

Whether the Allies will win Tripoli without a fight depends chiefly on whether the Germans can reinforce the Afrika Korps before Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British Eighth army, overcomes the problem of maintaining communications and providing water for his rapidly advancing forces. Front dispatches indicated that might cause the British more trouble than Axis resistance. There are only scattered water wells between El Agheila and Misurata, toward which the British are moving.

Once past Misurata, the British would find it easier going. The land between Misurata and Tripoli is cultivated and well populated and the Eighth army could find supplies.

Whatever may be Rommel's plans for Tripoli, there is no doubt that the Axis is making a determined attempt to reinforce its Tunisia army.

Allied air reconnaissance determined that for three days small transports, including even sailing vessels, have been arriving at Gabes, on the east Tunisia coast, from Tripoli.

Spanish advices from Algiers reported heavy motor traffic along the Axis held Libyan-Tunisian coast and said several German columns were moving into the hills

ANGRY: French Quit Desks As Laval Plans Nazi 'Supervision'

(By United Press)

LONDON—Pierre Laval will confer with Adolf Hitler in the next few days to agree to German "advisers" being stationed in all Vichy government departments and to negotiate formation of a new Vichy army by German "experts," advices from the continent said today.

Dispatches which reached Spain from France said that hundreds of Vichy civil servants, informed of Laval's plan, had locked their desks, thrown away the keys and gone home. Some tacked notices on office doors. "Closed indefinitely."

Likewise most army officers, invited to resume services in a new army under German-imposed conditions indignantly refused, the dispatches said.

Germany yesterday began broadcasting intimations that Laval was still in Vichy last night and would preside at a cabinet meeting today "to give last instructions before his departure abroad." This broadcast said that it was uncertain whether Laval would leave Paris, after arriving there from Vichy, today or tomorrow.

Spanish advices said Laval was finally and irretrievably determined to effect close collaboration with Germany regardless of any opposition and that he had expressed himself as both disappointed and angry with the French nation for refusing to co-operate with him.

Laval was quoted as saying to Vichy newspapermen in various press conferences that his plans were meeting stubborn resistance and that he had determined to move "completely without pity" against anybody who stood in his way.

The Exchange Telegraph heard the Berlin radio say that 15,000 French workers had been "selected" in the Vichy area of France for immediate transfer to Germany.

COSTLY: Nazi Counter Drives In Russia Balked, Losses Heavy

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(AP)—With dive-bombers, tanks and infantry attacks sprung out of a rolling fog, the Germans have seized the offensive momentarily southwest of Stalingrad, but the Russians declared today that the attacks were checked after initial gains.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—The Red army, killing more than 3,000 frantically counter-attacking Germans in the last 24 hours, captured another village southwest of Stalingrad today.

More than 500 Germans were killed as the Russians stormed into the village, the Soviet noon communique said. The Russians captured 50 Germans, three tanks 40 guns and food and munition dumps.

Front-line reports said the Germans were making non-stop counter-attacks southwest of Stalingrad, and in the Rzhev area, on the central front. But in the last 24 hours, they gained for the Germans only one small advance southwest of Stalingrad.

Besides losing more than 3,000 men in counter-attacks on the Stalingrad and central fronts, the Germans lost 41 tanks and 17 guns, captured or destroyed.

They paid 1,000 lives, seven tanks and 11 guns for their advance southwest of Stalingrad.

The Stalingrad garrison attacked in a factory area during the night, occupied a number of buildings, killing 80 Germans and captured booty, the noon communique said.

Mansfield Responds Early To Give-A-Christmas 'Adoptions'

Mansfield's Give-a-Christmas program to provide holiday dinners to the needy, was under way in earnest today as organizations and individuals stepped forward to adopt families through the clearing house service maintained this year by the Salvation Army.

Close to 100 families out of 350 listed for adoption by various local and county welfare agencies had been assured of a Christmas dinner today as church groups, Girl Scouts, Volunteers of America, Catholic Welfare society and other civic organizations volunteered to aid in the program.

The 300 families comprising the list this year were culled from 500 names submitted by various welfare groups. Adjt. Paul Hoffman of the Salvation Army said that investigation showed approximately 200 of the original list were able to provide their own Christmas dinner this year because of employment.

Only actually needy cases comprise the list, said the adjutant, citing a family of three where the wife has been the sole support of an invalid husband and 12-year-old son for the past few years. Recently the breadwinner was laid off and the family has been compelled to be more frugal than ever.

"Although confined to a wheel chair the father has earned $6 towards a pair of much needed eyeglasses," Hoffman said, by telephoning friends and asking them to stop and see a selection of Christmas cards. The adjutant pointed out that "it is families like this that deserve an extra good Christmas."

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

Probably because drama critics are seldom devotees of the galloping cinema, none of the reviewers who dished out such praiseful adjectives in behalf of "The Skin Of Our Teeth" pointed out the rather remarkable similarity between Thornton Wilder's perplexing new show and the recent Crosby-Hope picture, "The Road to Morocco.

Kilgallen

In both works, the leading players are always stepping out of character to address the audience, and both have been produced in the spirit of anything-for-a-gag. I am not up on the latest information about the Hollywood bidding (if any) for the Wilder show, but I don't see how Paramount can resist buying it. It is tailor-made for Hope, the Groaner and Lamour, and it will be more than a shame if they won't get it. When you think what Bob's comedy writers could do for it, and when you envision Bing in the Florence Reed role—well, it ought to be a wow.

The current censorship squabble on Broadway reminds me again how terribly vulnerable theater people are to any sort of criticism. Today, as from the very start of the war, the theater is doing a fine job, its performers pitching in on USO dates and war bond rallies and at the various canteens with zeal and effectiveness that I don't think is matched by the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker. Yet, the presence on Broadway of one cheap and salacious show was enough to make the entire profession suspect, and the politicos are attacking it with a fury they usually reserve for fifth columnists.

The reason, I suppose, is that many people have never really gotten over the medieval notion that the theater was the Devil's playground, its actors a tribe of strolling, good-for-nothings, just a cut above ordinary footpads.

I have read, and even written, much about Hildegarde's infectious gaiety, Libby Holman's sultriness, Milton Berle's dynamic delivery, and Eddie Cantor's unquenchable vitality, all usually described as "showmanship" qualities.

Showmanship in the theater and on night club floors gets the applause and the most publicity, but showmanship anywhere seems to pay off, and I am thinking of the moment of the particular type of showmanship indulged in by those interesting characters who are well known to Broadwayites, but seldom to the reading public—the headwaiters. They almost always give a good performance.

Gigi, at the Coq Rouge, is handsome and smiling, quick to recognize the incoming guest, but slow to depart from the courtly formality that is his trademark. If you order wine, he samples it anxiously before permitting you to taste it; if you wish a salad, he will mix it for you himself, and the oil and vinegar flows from great heights as Gigi tilts them into the great wooden bowl. As you depart, he clicks his heels.

Carlos, of the Barberry Room, has much the same technique, but he performs the additional feat of remembering your pet dishes and how you like your steak, and he allows himself a humorous gleam in the eye when he has talked you into a particularly dangerous dessert.

Jack Spooners, in the Stork's Cub Room, is the hearty, pally—sometimes even fatherly—type of headwaiter. He is more impressed by a good ballplayer than a duke. He calls a large portion of his customers by their first names (having known them since they used to come in and throw their spinach on the floor), and if your friend Joe has been in and isn't looking well, Jack lets you know he's worried about him.

When strangers wander into the Cub, Spooner leaps into a solicitous and deferential attitude—but if you happen to glance his way while he's doing this unnatural bowing and scraping, he'll give you a broad wink.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The late afternoon of a movie set, or glamour muddling through:

"Ho-hum," yawned Jack Oakie, stretching in his chair. "Ho-hum. This place is like a morgue."

Mr. Oakie had been working. He had been mugging through a scene for "Hello, Frisco, Hello." Now he was done, waiting for a change of scenery. So were Alice Faye, June Havoc, John Payne. The director, Bruce "Lucky" Humberstone, had gone into conference.

Coons

Miss Alice Faye, looking radiant and prettier than two pictures of Alice Faye, pre-motherhood model, said hello. "You look grand," somebody said. Miss Faye brightened just as if she hadn't heard it a million times since her return to work. "I feel grand," she said. She chatted a minute then excused herself to change her costume.

"Ho-hum," said Oakie. "Speaking of Alice, we all looked at 'King of Burlesque' the other day. We made it in '35. Alice Faye, Warner Baxter. What a difference in the gal now! And you know who was in that show—one of the gals swinging on a trapeze? Lynn Bari. Stock girl then, and now she's the other woman in this one."

Mr. Oakie lapsed into reminiscence. In weary late afternoons, it's easy to slip into old times.

John Payne was just sitting and yawning. We got to talking about flying, and John told about his tests for the air corps. "Five of 'em, and stiff . . . I passed, though. I'm in now."

June Havoc, wearing a short dancing skirt, came out of her dressing room. June showed us her trailer. "For a dressing-room, they gave me a tepee. I asked if they'd mind if I brought my own. So do the eyes pop when this rolls in!"

This is a portable palace, with cookstove, sink, icebox, desk and built-in-bed. "Where'd I get it?" June rolled her eyes naughtily. "Oh, a casual friend gave it to me. Now everybody wants to buy it. Alice wants it."

* * *

Nothing kept on happening. June and John converged on the Oakie chair. It got to be "old times" again. "When I was a child star in vaudeville," began June, "I——"

"Were you a star, honey?" said John.

"At $1250 a week I was a STAR," said June.

Alice emerged from her dressing room, looking prettier than ten pictures, to show off her new costume—a shy white dress covered with shamrocks. "For the Kelly number," she said.

"Honey," said Oakie, "that's sumpin'."

Everybody admired, and Alice retreated to change again.

"Ho-hum," said Oakie. "This place is like a morgue."

Price Control Office Faces Wide Probe

ARMY PRAISES BIG BLACKOUT OVER 9 STATES

400,000 Volunteers and 350 Planes Participate; St. Louis Fire Causes Excitement.

(By United Press)

OMAHA, Neb. — The army's seventh service command reported today that the nation's most extensive blackout, covering an area of 712,604 square miles in nine states, was successful beyond expectations.

Observers in each of the participating states—Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, North and South Dakota— reported the blackout orders, with a few minor exceptions, had been obeyed to the letter.

One death was reported directly caused by the test. Air raid Warden Charles H. Graby, about 60, was killed when struck by a police car at Creston, Ia. In St. Louis, Mo., a three-alarm fire in the mid-town area was observable from the air and caused a flurry of excitement. Seven firemen were overcome by smoke.

Capt. R. J. Joyce, army flier who piloted the plane in which Grant and other officials observed the blackout, said it was the best he had ever seen. "Nothing on the Pacific coast even approached it," Joyce said.

The blackout was ushered in by the silencing of all radio stations in the area at 10 p. m. Lights began going out immediately in the area extending from the Mississippi river to the western slope of the continental divide. The radio silence lasted only a few seconds and the stations came on the air again to report progress of the test.

Nearly 400,000 volunteers were on the job during the blackout and almost 350 airplanes carrying observers reported the progress of the test, which was considered important because it covered thinly settled rural areas and such thickly populated centers as Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Des Moines and Denver.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Rudy Rader Widely Known as Peppermint Salesman.

PLYMOUTH—Rudy Rader, sr., 62, widely known peppermint salesman, died Monday at 10:30 p. m., at his home in Plymouth following a brief illness.

He was a native of Shrock, Ind., but had lived in Huron county for a number of years. He was a member of the Greenwich Church of Christ.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Mt. Hope Lutheran church in Shiloh with Rev. Nevin Stover, pastor of the Mt. Hope church, and Rev. Stanley Johnson of the Greenwich Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery, Shiloh.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Isabelle Rader; three sons, Walter of Columbus; Paul and Rudy, jr., of Shiloh; one daughter, Mrs. Elden Kaler of Saginaw, Mich., and seven grandchildren.

'BLITZ APRON' HOLDS PLENTY

In It You Can Carry Everything Needed For Raid Emergency.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— When the small fry hear about the new "blitz apron," they're going to be envious. It holds much more than can be crammed into a boy's pants pockets.

The "blitz apron" has 12 pockets, it holds:

Ampules of aromatic spirits and iodine, a "skin pencil" for writing directions on an air-raid victim's forehead; a swist stick for a tourniquet; a lead pencil; identification tags; bandage scissors and safety pins; flashlight; bandages in three sizes; a scratch pad for messages; bandage compress; drinking cups; rolled bandages; paper towels; a bar of soap and a stretcher sling.

SPARKS BLAMED

Set Off Series of Explosions That Wreck Los Angeles Plant.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Electric sparks that ignited a pile of magnesium dust were believed responsible today for a series of explosions and fire that destroyed the Magnesium Products, Inc., plant which had been producing aircraft castings.

All 54 workers in the plant at the time of the blasts were believed to have escaped. More than 150 explosions followed each other in rapid succession, and within 45 minutes the flames reduced the plant to a brick shell and a twisted mass of hot metal.

CHILDREN ARE CLUB'S GUESTS

Sunshine Class Entertained By Rotarians; Santa Pays Them a Visit.

Effectiveness of work in behalf of crippled children in Mansfield is reflected in gradual reduction of the number of pupils in Sunshine school, only 12 having bren guests at Monday's annual Rotary club Christmas party, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

William C. Mead, chairman of the club's crippled children's committee and member of the board of directors of the Ohio Society For Crippled Children, presided at the meeting. The high school orchestra, directed by J. M. Holcombe played several selections during the luncheon.

Featured on the program was a musical playlet written and enacted by the children of Sunshine school. Those who had parts were: Elaine Gerger, Virginia Brownfield, Bobby Hasenzahl, William Muntan, Judith Ross, Joyce Antrican, Margaret Scholler, Kenneth Ross, Leroy Watkins, Nathan Brooks and John Brandt.

Under direction of Earl Black musical numbers were given by Janice and Joan Brandt, vocal duet and Gerald Swartz, accordionist.

Santa Claus, impersonated by Floyd Dent, arrived as usual to distribute presents to the children.

Guests included representatives of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, county commissioners and Probate Judge S. H. Cramer and several office associates.

LAKES SHIPPING TOPS U. S. GOAL

92,000,000 Tons of Ore Moved During Season.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The greatest shipping in Great Lakes history has ended with lake carriers bringing down more than the government goal of Lake Superior iron ore.

The iron fleet of 340 American and Canadian vessels, including several converted from other bulk freight shipping, delivered 92,076,781 gross tons to the lower lake ports in the ore shipping season just ended. Its goal was 90,000,000 tons. Next year the war production board wants 100,000,000 tons of lake Superior iron ore.

Meanwhile the regional manpower commission announced today that Great Lakes seamen now being released for the winter layoff months will be offered temporary employment in their home communities.

FACES TRIAL

Colonel's Daughter Appears Today In Murder Case.

BISBEE, Ariz.—(INS)—Margaret Herlihy, 21-year-old daughter of an army colonel, faced trial today on charges of murdering her secret husband, Army Captain David B. Carr.

The slender red-haired girl, who has pleaded self defense, will appear before Judge William G. Hall of Tucson. Subsequent to the shooting of Capt. Carr last August, it was learned that he already was married when he was wed to Miss Herlihy.

REPORTS U. S. WAREHOUSES ARE BULGING WITH 'HOLIDAY CHEER'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Although liquor production is at a standstill because of the war, government experts see no dearth of Christmas cheer this year for those who have the money to buy.

Or next year either, for that matter.

In fact, says Stewart Berkshire, deputy commissioner of the treasury's alcohol tax unit, government warehouses right now are bulging with enough liquor to meet normal requirements for about three and a half years.

Reports of shortages developing in some sections, he said, are probable due to transportation difficulties or causes of a purely local nature.

Rationing on the basis of a quart a day per person has been instituted by Ohio State liquor stores and a more comprehensive card rationing system is planned next month. North Carolina stores also have begun rationing and in New York some dealers have suggested a voluntary plan.

Ohio stores have been forced to operate under reduced hours because of inability to get sufficient help. Growing manpower shortages are expected eventually to affect retail stores in other states.

Shortages in areas where rationing has been adopted or is under consideration were attributed to shipping difficulties, heavy buying by consumers anxious to avoid payment of the additional tax which became effective Nov. 1, and in some cases to speculative buying.

Scotch drinkers, too, apparently are assured of a steady supply. Importers estimated that despite the war, Scotch imports are being maintained at normal levels are around 7,000,000 gallons a year. The British were reported shipping all available Scotch to this country to establish exchange credits for war purchases.

WIDOW, 83, DIES

Mrs. Priscilla Teeter Taken By Death at Son's Home.

Mrs. Priscilla S. Teeter, 83, widow of George L. Teeter, died last evening at the home of her son, C. C. Teeter, 360 Ohio street, after an illness of several months.

She was born May 8, 1859 in Knox county and came to Mansfield 29 years ago.

Surviving in addition to the son at whose home she died, are another son, Walter L. of Cleveland; two daughters, Mrs. C. S. Peroy, Colorado; Mrs. Hazel B. Neal, Cincinnati; two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Rosborough, Ashland, Mrs. Mary Pryor, Danville; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be at North Liberty.

Police said Cheery went into a department store, put on three overcoats, one over the other, threw a fourth coat over his arm and ran. He didn't run fast enough.

TAXES TO TAKE ABOUT A FOURTH

Government Will Take About 31 Billions in Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The federal reserve board today estimated national income for the present fiscal year at $130,000,000,000, and said federal, state and municipal taxes would absorb 24.5 per cent of the total.

This compares with 38.9 per cent in the United Kingdom and 39.1 per cent in Canada, where the national incomes were estimated at $28,000,000,000 and $6,400,000,000, respectively.

The United States will collect $31,000,000,000 in taxes, the United Kingdom $10,300,000,000 and Canada $2,500,000,000, the board said.

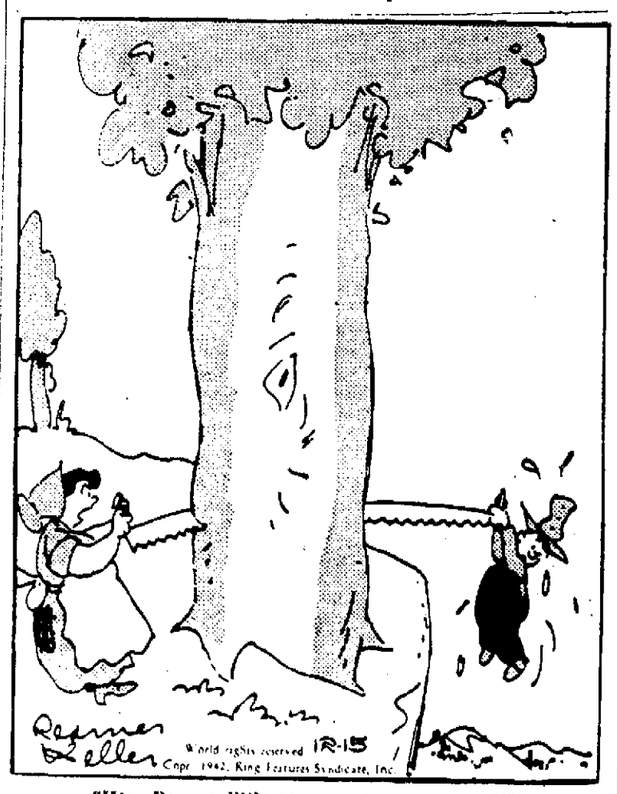
Laff-a-Day



"Hey, Paw, a little more push on your end!"

A Mansfield postal clerk, fagged out from yesterday's mailing rush, went home to sleep last night, but never got to bed. He wasn't aware of the fact, however, until the alarm clock rang this morning and he found that he wasn't in bed at all but sitting in a chair in the furnace room. He had gone to the basement to fix the furnace after arriving home late in the evening and thought he would sit down for a minute to rest before going back upstairs. When minutes passed and he didn't return his wife went to look for him. Upon discovering him soundly asleep she just tip-toed upstairs, got the alarm clock, and set it nearby.

Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, today declared that while he is deeply appreciative of the material manner in which Springfield township pupils have expressed their gratitude for his services during a recent typhoid fever epidemic in the Ontario region he feels the greater thanks should go to the nurses and sanitary officers who maintained a constant vigil in the area during the fever spread. The pupils of the Ontario centralized school yesterday presented Dr. Wild with a volume of Currier and Ives prints. "The nurses and sanitary officers did more than I did in checking the fever spread and stamping out the malady" Dr. Wild observed.

FUNERAL SET

Rites For James O'Brien, 81, To Be Held Wednesday.

Funeral services for James O'Brien, 81, who died Monday after a brief illness at the home of his son, Harry C. O'Brien, 839 Maple street, will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home by Rev. G. E. Swoyer. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Mr. O'Brien was a retired machinist and a member of the First Lutheran church. Born Feb. 17, 1861 at Perrysville, he moved to Mansfield 80 years ago.

Besides his son, Harry, survivors are another son, Earl J., of Cleveland, seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

PLAN CLEVELAND JOB FREEZINGS

WMC, Labor, Management Seek To Keep 100,000 At Tasks.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Official stabilization of Cleveland's labor situation will begin Thursday when the new WMC labor-management committee meets to undertake its No. 1 job, "freezing" 100,000 essential war jobs.

When the stabilization plan has been set up by the committee, labor and management of the fields covered by the list of essential occupations will be asked to accept it voluntarily.

The WMC can exert pressure of publicity on those who do not accept this plan, and the war or navy departments may negotiate contracts to the detriment of the involuntary groups.

SENATE UNIT TO ACT UNDER NEW CONGRESS

Wheeler Questions Authority For Subsidies, Attacks Byrnes' Action.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—An investigation of the whole field of operations of the office of price control will be launched by a senate agriculture subcommittee immediately after the new congress convenes.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) said the committe which authorized the inquiry interpreted and applied and what plans had been made for the payment of subsidies to maintain ceilings.

"I personally feel that there is no authority under the law for the payment of subsidies," Wheeler told reporters. "I think we ought to investigate the whole price control setup to see what they are doing, as well as the operations of the department of agriculture, particularly their construction of the law in absolute contradiction to the intent of congress."

Wheeler alluded to action taken by Economic Director James E. Byrnes to count government benefit payments as a part of farmers' crop income, thus permitting the establishment of price ceiling's below parity levels in some instances.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), who has charged this was contrary to the intent of congress, told reporters he would not be surprised if action were taken in the new session to cut off funds for the payment of subsidies so that price ceilings would be raised to obtain sufficient food production.

Wheeler said the committee had been asked by Byrnes to approve a resolution permitting the government to sell 150,000,000 bushels of wheat at market prices, paying farmers a subsidy of about six cents a bushel.

This was proposed, he said, as part of a plan to relieve a price "squeeze" on Millers, which Senator Reed (R-Kan) has charged might result in a bread shortage.

This plan called for an increase of 58 cents a barrel in the ceiling price on flour, which the departmental experts believed would be reflected in an increase of from six to 12 cents a bushel in the amount farmers received for their wheat.

Bakers were said to have agreed generally to absorb the flour price rise without increasing bread prices, if the plan went through.

Grangers To Be Feted; There'll Be Free Coffee

Richland county Pomona grange is going to install new officers Thursday night, at a meeting at Shenandoah grange hall, and the new master has taken steps to make sure his administration gets off on the right foot.

He's going to supply the coffee for the refreshments that will follow the installation.

The new master is Harry Stroup. The announcement that he would supply the coffee didn't say how he proposed to go about it.

Also to be installed beside Pomona grange officers are officers of Olivesburg, Shenandoah and Butler juvenile granges.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Dispatches From Front Hint Rommel To Take Over Tunisian Defense.

where they could command the railroad from Gafsa, 95 miles inland, to Mahares, 50 miles up the coast.

(A United Press dispatch from Allied headquarters in North Africa said the ferocious aerial offensive of the American Army Air Force had been intensified because it was known that heavy German reinforcements were arriving in Tunisia, some of them in transport planes and gliders.)

It was indicated that Rommel, Axis commander in chief in Africa, intended to consolidate positions in the Tunisian mountains.

In those mountains, if Rommel failed to stop the advance of the British Eighth army through Libya, he could join with Nehring, the Axis commander holding the Tunis-Bizerte area of northeastern Tunisia, for a last stand of the Axis on the African continent.

Late dispatches reported that the retreat of Rommel's Afrika Korps westward from the Agheila line on the Gulf of Sirte in Libya was proceeding at a fast pace.

So closely were the Imperial armored forces pressing the fleeing Axis troops, dispatches said, that they were slashing into Rommel's rear guard, knocking out tanks and armored cars and sending a stream of prisoners back to the rear.

The attack of the British Imperial and United States Army Air Forces on the fleeing Axis columns had reached record proportions for the entire African war.

Hundreds of planes were in action, bombing, cannonading and machine-gunning troop and tank columns and fuel and supply bases to impede the retreat.

Rommel's men were reported to be offering no serious resistance so far and the Imperial forces seemed to be impeded by nothing more than the thick-sown Axis mine fields and the necessity of keeping their supplies moving along extended lines.

Axis radios were silent on Rommel's retreat after a single admission by Berlin yesterday, perhaps inadvertent, that he had retired from the Agheila line 475 miles east of Tunisia.

Aerial activity, especially a terrific pounding of Tunis, Bizerte and Sousse, the important east coast base, by the United States Army 12th Air Force, featured the Tunisian campaign.

Churchill Heads Anti-Sub Committee

LONDON—(U.P.)— Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons today that he had formed a new anti-submarine committee with himself as chairman and Sir Stafford Cripps, aircraft production minister, as deputy chairman.

The old "Battle of the Atlantic" committee had been replaced, Churchill said, because of "the ever more important part the air had begun to play against submarine warfare."

Commenting on the so-called Churchill tanks of the British army which had met some criticism Churchill said that on June 11, 1940, after Dunkirk, less than 100 tanks were in the hands of the troops in the United Kingdom.

"The invasion of this country was expected if not in the autumn of 1940 at any rate in the spring of 1941 or even in 1942," he said.

"The 100 tanks and those in production were of a type proved in the Battle of France to be too weak to stand up against German anti-tank guns."

Reveal Axis Sinking Killed 1500 Italians

AN EAST COAST PORT—(Delayed)—(U.P.)—Six Axis submarines sent torpedoes crashing into a British transport off the West African coast last September, killing an estimated 1,500 Italian war prisoners and 500 other persons for possibly the greatest torpedo death toll in marine history, survivors said today.

The ship was returning to Britain from Egypt when it was attacked by an Italian and five German submarines, whose commanders apparently knew that the prisoners were aboard.

One German captain told a survivor:

"If you had had half of the Italian nation on her, we should have still fired."

About 1,040 persons were rescued from lifeboats by a French cruiser and taken to Casablanca, French Morocco, where they were interned until American forces occupied the area last month. Only some 300 Italians were saved out of a force of 1,800 captured in Africa. The rest of the passenger list was mostly British, including 50 women and children—wives and children of British officers—most of whom were saved.

The death toll far exceeded previous warship disasters—the torpedoing of the Lusitania in 1915, when 1,198 lives were lost and the sinking of the Athenia in 1939 with a loss of 1,104.

The two torpedoes which mortally wounded the transport struck on the side where the Italians were quartered, and many of them were killed outright. The others were thrown into a panic.

Survivors told of a night of horror as the Italians drowned by scores, leaping over the side and overturning lifeboats. Screams pierced the darkness as sharks dragged off persons who clung to the overcrowded boats. Some who came through the night alive were horribly mangled by sharp-toothed barracuda.

Soon after the attack the submarines came to the surface and picked up many survivors, including several hundred of the Italians, who later were transferred to lifeboats.

One German officer apoligized "for having to put Italians into the lifeboats with you Britishers."

Ship's officers and Royal Air Force men were taken prisoner by the Germans, but other survivors were released after a short period on the submarines, during which they were given wine and cigarets. About 35 women and children spent the night on a submarine.

GET DIPLOMAS IF INDUCTED

Mansfield, Shelby Seniors To Get Sheepskins If Army Calls Them Early.

what to do with their seniors who are called for army duty in January, since Board 3, serving those districts, is expected to draw heavily on its 18-year-old registrants to fill a big January quota.

Acting Supt. O. H. Schaaf of Shelby schools said he would recommend that seniors called before the end of the first semester on Jan. 15, receive their diplomas with a notation that a specified number of hours of study had been deleted because of military service.

He said he doubted, however, that such diplomas would be of any value in gaining admission to colleges unless requirements are changed.

Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools and H. W. Arlin, president of the Mansfield board of education, favored giving diplomas if the senior is doing good scholastic work and would have earned his diploma in June.

Under the draft regulations, seniors between the ages of 18 and 20 who are called for induction in the second half of the year may obtain deferment by writing their local draft boards. The request for deferment must be submitted to the board after the pupil receives his induction order.

Boards 1 and 2 in Mansfield, with small January quotas, said they probably would have enough older men for the call next month. Induction of registrants in the 18-20 age group would begin in February after the final semester of school is under way.

needed one, and probably two additional exits.

Sveburger announced today that Archie May, president of the Townsend club which uses the hall for Saturday night bingo parties, and Rudolph Hartman, rental agent for the building, would be summoned to the hearing, with the probability of others being called.

Hartman explained two weeks ago that he had leased the room to May and Ralph Hardy, chairman of the Richland county Republican committee, for Republican club purposes only and that he was opposed to any Townsend club occupancy or bingo operation. He said that Hardy withdrew from the lease arrangement some time ago May assuring him that the room would be used only for political rallies.

Gorsuch will come from his home in Mt. Vernon tomorrow but Owen intimated yesterday he will not be able to come from his Marion home for the hearing.

State officials yesterday placed their seal of approval on alterations made at the Ringside Night club, 28 East Third street, to conform to state fire hazard regulations. John Hergatt, proprietor, has had all wiring places in fireproof conduit and a second-floor ceiling has been altered, Seeburger reported, to insure protection against fire.

Officials ordered that one door which opened into the club rooms be remodeled to open out and work was begun at once, Seeburger said.

Meets Tonight On Plan To Allow Bates To Stay With FBI

here for one hour on Jan. 15 during which time he will be encouraged to present a new application for leave to Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff.

Wolff would immediately approve the leave, Biddle predicted, and this will clear the way for the Civil Service commission to grant a new leave of one year, a process which can be repeated in 1944 if necessary. "We're all interested in winning the war and if Bates is more valuable in the FBI than in the police department, Tom Woodward (commission member) and myself feel that is where he belongs," Biddle emphasized. Sneeringer's attitude will be determined tonight.

Bates was granted a leave of absence for the duration of the national emergency by city council, effective last Jan. 14. Biddle said the commission ruling that he must return Jan. 14 was reached after Bates had requested a decision on his status. "Ohio courts," Biddle said, in citing law book sections and findings, "have held that a 'duration' leave is invalid."

"Unfortunately," Biddle concluded, "the commission's ruling came just at the time there was public discussion of 'interference' with police enforcement of gambling laws."

Mrs. Lindley died in Grant hospital from burns 12 hours after the explosion. Ray Lindley, the husband, was not at home when the mishap occurred.

BLAST LANDING FORCE AS BUNA FALLS TO YANKS

Allied Planes Pound Ships, Barges Making New Guinea Invasion Attempt.

musi and Mambare rivers, some 20 and 40 miles, respectively, north of Buna.

"In heavy bombing and strafing attacks, the enemy's landing barges were sunk or disabled," the communique said. "Survivors attempted to reach landing by swimming, suffering heavy casualties. Supplies were set afire. Several hits and many near misses were made on the war vessels.

"The enemy's air force intervened unsuccessfully, an enemy bomber and two fighters being shot down and the remainder dispersed. It is believed that the major enemy effort was largely parried."

Japanese soldiers under full pack were reported to have plunged wildly into the water coated with blazing oil and littered with wrecked and burning landing barges as the Allied airmen drove home their wave assaults on the convoys.

After being attacked by Liberators and Flying Fortresses the cruiser and destroyer protected Japanese vessels stood off the coast Sunday night and began landing operations under cover of darkness.

Early Monday Fortresses, Havocs, Airacobras and Australian Beaufighters swarmed to the assault, bombing and strafing the landing area in a ceaseless shuttle service between ship and shore. Every one of the enemy landing barges in one group of 20 was sunk or set afire.

Barrels filled with ammunition, oil and other supplies were lashed together with nets and attempts were made to float them to shore, but Allied airmen said they had a field day in sending them to the bottom in low-level strafing attacks.

Many of the ammunition-filled barrels were reported to have exploded with a mighty roar, destroying nearby barges loaded with troops.

After absorbing two days of punishing raid, the convoy scattered northward.

As matters stood today the Japanese in the Buna-Gona area still were clinging to Buna Mission and Sanananda Point, just to the north, some positions of undisclosed depth to the east, and possibly the newly established though heavily battered toeholds up the Papuan coast.

Their man New Guinea bases, however, are at Lae and Salamaua, 150 miles to the northwest, where their initial landings were made on the island last March.

The occupation of coastal Gona, 12 miles to the northwest, was announced last Thursday.

(No mention was made in the communique of Buna Mission, near the village, nor the Buna airdrome. American forces, however, had managed to drive a wedge to the coast, splitting the Japanese on their narrow strips of beach, and isolating one group in the mission area.)

While the land forces were storming Buna village, the airmen found a convoy of two Japanese cruisers and three destroyers, screened by an air force, attempting to come in at the mouths of the Kumusi river, 20-odd miles north of Buna, and the Mambare river, some 40 miles north.

The warships were spotted two days ago off Madang, on the northwest New Guinea coast. The Allied planes kept pounding them through Vitiaz strait southward to the mouth of the Mambare.

The ships lay off the river estuaries during overnight landing operations and then turned northward yesterday, still under attack.

Reconnaissance Monday night showed that most Japanese barges and supplies had been destroyed.

Some observers expressed the opinion the fleet was heading for the Buna area with reinforcements and then attempted the landing operation and new entrenchments to the northwest when met by the punishing blows of the air force.

ways have been launched.

New carriers should begin to join the fleet early in 1943 and thereafter go into service in ever-increasing numbers. By fall the carrier force—at present seriously depleted—should be considerably more powerful than any opposing force Japan can bring against us.

Battleships—the new 35,000-ton Washington, North Carolina, South Dakota and Massachusetts are already in service. The Indiana and Alabama, of the same tonnage, were launched in November 1941 and February 1942 respectively. The 45,000-ton Iowa hit the water last August and the New Jersey, of the same class, only this month.

Other naval craft—battleships and carriers do not operate without supporting squadrons of cruisers and destroyers and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, is authority for the statement that 1943 will see the fleet swelled by numbers of these vessels.

Guns—little has been revealed about the development or improvement of guns although that obviously must be one of the main concerns of all munitions research and design. General Arnold said in his Sunday speech, in which he cryptically referred to secret new weapons of aerial warfare, that one new piece of airplane armament would make the present powerful .50 caliber machine gun look like a pea shooter.

It may be assumed as a certainty that behind the on-the-record information about new weapons are many other developments which for reasons of military security and surprise cannot be reported until after they have been in use.

Calling the 18-Year-Olds To War

REGISTRATION of 18-year-old youths under the amended selective service law will continue until the first of the year, after which each young man will be required to register on his 18th birthday anniversary.

These youths in the 18 and 19-year age brackets now become subject to draft for military service—or, more accurately, for the period of training that will precede actual service.

In this they are fortunate in having this training made available to them at an age when the discipline will be most beneficial and at a time when the physical and mental upbuilding will strengthen them to meet future problems with greater ability and confidence than might otherwise be possible.

Something that may well be considered now, however, is whether the present opportunity for training and discipline will be withdrawn from 18-year-old boys after the war, or a plan devised whereby a year's training can be made available for all youths when they reach the age of 18, or after completion of their high school course.

For a time preceding Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor a vociferous minority was successful in preventing commonsense procedure toward reasonable military preparedness for war, even to the extent of vigorously opposing fundamental training for youths in the CCC and attempting to abolish military instruction in colleges.

While some sincere pacifists and idealists participated in this activity the whole movement toward national military impotency is now recognized as an alien-inspired subversive effort to make the United States a "push-over" when the time came for long-planned aggressive action against this country.

Also for later thought is the suggestion that if youths of 18 are deemed of suitable age for military service they may also feel that they are entitled to vote, rather than having this privilege deferred until they reach the age of 21.

Another Firetrap Discovered—Too Late

COMING just two weeks after the Cocoanut Grove night club fire in Boston, the St. Johns, Newfoundland, disaster last Saturday night was strikingly similar in a number of ways.

In both instances the buildings used for large public gatherings were obviously unfit for such purposes and the fire spread so rapidly that many persons lost their lives in the panic-inspired rush toward insufficient exits.

In the Boston fire almost five hundred persons were killed and many others seriously burned. At St. Johns the death toll mounted to more than one hundred.

Must fatalities reach such horrifying figures before officials and the public are aroused to action? Is it unimportant that a few dozens or a few scores of persons are constantly placed in similar danger through neglect of plainly discernible fire hazards?

The Mansfield area has had such tragic occurrences, on a smaller scale, in the past, and there is no assurance against repetition—unless safety is placed above expediency, and the public welfare above license fees.

Mexico As a Helpful Neighbor

MIGRANT labor, long tolerated grudgingly, is now being treated more seriously. The increasing shortage of man-power in war time makes it necessary to organize and control movements and living conditions. The supply has to be adapted to agricultural and industrial demands. Homes, or reasonable substitutes for them, must be found for hundreds of thousands of people. Families must be woven somehow into a decent living system.

This problem becomes international because the most available region for recruiting such workers is Mexico. Thus Mexican labor, long objected to because of its alien character and the racial difficulties arising, is welcomed.

It is delicate business to import so many Mexicans and spread them around the country, in factories and on farms, as they are needed. And time was when there would be danger of serious trouble arising with Mexico itself. Fortunately the present Mexican government is friendly and co-operative in this and other problems. And the two nations, so different in character and language, seem to be learning at last to understand, trust and help each other.

Selecting Books for Soldiers

THE QUESTION, "What kind of books does your shop send to the men in camp?" was asked of a number of booksellers in New York, and it brought the answer: "Anything but trash. I've watched many soldiers and sailors buy books, and I've observed that most of them buy either inexpensive editions of the great works of the past, or the very best of the recent books."

It is the answer to the people who think that the service men want nothing but mysteries, romances and western stories. They have a place as Christmas gifts, but a very limited place. After all, our soldiers are not the legendary "tired business men." They are wideawake individuals facing the most important thing in their lives. Their time is too short to be wasted. The best there is in literature, like the best in everything else, is none too good for them now.

Proverbs are briefly stated truths that are passed along through successive generations, and Jack Warwick, of the Toledo Blade, may have started one on its way by this bit of wisdom: "A few inconveniences are good for man."

Thus far the war hasn't extended to any point where it is necessary to explain that "the resemblance to Utopia is entirely coincidental."

With everything moving at such speed it's little wonder that Landon's first name is momentarily forgotten.

It is also being recalled that when a nice sirloin steak sold for a dime, many more people didn't have the dime.

Present Generation Pays for War

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—In every war there are those who insist taxes should be so high that no unbearable burden of debt should be left for our grandchildren. And there are others who say that the privations of war are bad enough, without making the people already suffering endure super taxation as well.

In the last war we heard another argument that this, the 1917 affair was a war to end war! hence, since there would be a better world after it, it was only fair that the children to come should pay a little bit for what had been passed on to them.

We don't hear that argument so much now, though the aspirations for a better and peaceful world still are heard.

But there is a joker in the argument on both sides, when it comes to deciding whether to pay the cost now or pass it on to future generations. The simple fact is we are not able to pass it on. We must pay it ourselves. It is only the method of paying in which we can decide, not the time of payment.

THERE are some exceptions to this. If forests are cut down natural resources exhausted by feverish exploitation to provide war materials, naturally our grandchildren may suffer to some extent from that. But even in such instances it is only a partial loss.

It may be that our grandchildren will not set such value or the natural resources which we so highly prize today. It may be that something else will take the place of the steel we are sending to the bottom of the sea in such quantities. It may be that something now undreamed of will take the place of oil for power and heating.

Putting this angle to one side, on the theory that if we have to use up precious resources because of war there is no choice in the matter, most discussion centers on whether the war should be financed by high taxes, or long term bond issues. Taxes of course must pay the bill, sooner or later, as that is the only way interest on the bonds can be paid.

The fundamental error in most arguments about war financing is that the debaters insist on regarding a national government in the same way they regard an individual. If John Smith keeps borrowing all his life, and leaves nothing but debts to his children, they certainly are the financial losers.

BUT if a country sells bonds to its own people, the eventual result is that a lot of its people own bonds, and another lot do not. As a general rule, it will be the prosperous people who own the bonds, what we might call the shiftless who will not.

But it is the prosperous people who pay most of the taxes, which in turn must pay the interest on the bonds. And the principal, if indeed that is ever paid (Britain has never paid off the debts she incurred to fight Napoleon).

Now none of this will have any effect whatever on the production of food, clothing, houses, furniture, automobiles, or other things which people want. No product need be shipped out of the country to pay interest.

The worst thing that could have happened, financially would have been inflation. Bad as that is, it is not our grandchildren who suffer so much from it as ourselves. The reshuffling of property which inflation always produces has little effect on the economy of people as a whole a couple of generations later. So it is the folks living during the next few years who do the suffering. They can't pass much of it on!

Man About Manhattan

Farewell, Folks

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I'm not sure I know how to begin this. This is one of the last columns I'm going to write. For the duration anyway. When you see this I'll be on my way to Cairo. I'm going over to take a part in the war. Not as a soldier, but as a reporter, as a war correspondent.

I'm going because it's what I'd rather do than anything in this world and because I'm lucky. You've got to be lucky to get in on the biggest news story that has come along since the Story of Creation. There isn't a newspaperman in the country who wouldn't chop off his toes for the chance, I know I would. And I'm very, very happy.

WHEN I was a kid in Lake Charles, La., reading "The Dare Boys On the Brandywine" and "Surrey of Eagle's Nest" I used to wish I had been born a long time ago so that I could have ridden with Lighthorse Harry Lee or been with Pickett at Gettysburg.

But I was wrong. If I'd been born then I'd never have known about Krakow and Corfu and Bataan and Rangoon and the Solomon Islands. I'd never have had a chance to span an ocean on wings, and follow an army through the western desert, or go into India and Turkey and Iraq, or ride into Jerusalem on a jackass. But I was lucky. By an accident of time some or all these things are mine now.

I've been writing about New York for ten years. That's a long time. During that time more than six thousand of you have written me letters. Those letters came from little cow towns and big steel towns and from cities and hamlets and little hideaway villages between here and Shanghai and Honolulu and Juneau and wherever this column has appeared.

Answering those letters and writing about the things I have seen on Broadway and along the waterfront and at Harlem chicken heavens operated by Father Devine has been one whale of an experience.

I was in on the Lindbergh kidnaping story, and to the best of my knowledge I was the first newspaperman in New York who got his hands on the name of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, that stoical ex-machine gunner of the kaiser's army who was convicted of killing the Lindbergh baby and sent to the chair.

I saw Prohibition die, and with it that curious, bitter blossom of the prohibition years, the speakeasy. A few of those speakeasies successfully negotiated the transition to legality and today they are among our better known restaurants and nightclubs. But the great majority of them died as they lived, behind closed doors and drawn shutters.

I knew Billy Rose when he was a song-plugger and before he became a sort of improbable half pint Colossus of the theater-cabaret world whose idea of living space in a New York apartment was a nice over-sized warehouse and who still hopes some day to take a small Balkan war on tour.

I knew Will Rogers and Lil Tashman and Osgood Perkins, and with them "Tex" Guinan, Helen Morgan, Daniel Frohman, Conde Nast, Heywood Broun, John Barrymore, and Alice Brady. When I first came to New York they were great names in the literary and theatrical worlds, but they are all dead now, and so is O. O. McIntyre and many, many others.

But times change, and so does a man's sense of values.

(Tomorrow: That question "Why?")

Interpreting the War News

Winter Fighting By the Russians May Doom Hitler's Victory Hopes

—By JAMES M. LONG

THE NEW winter drive sprung by the Red army out of the ruins of Stalingrad and the blizzards northwest of Moscow should give military observers their best yardstick so far of the comparative staying power of the Russian and German armies.

For this is the winter for which Adolf Hitler has boasted he is well prepared. And this is the counter-drive for which Joseph Stalin husbanded the sorely needed strength of his troops through the fall.

Perhaps never again, now that strong Allied forces are rapping on the Italian side-door to Hitler's Europe, will the self-styled military mastermind of the reich be free to fling full force assaults against the eastern front. The eastward tide of Nazi conquest may have lapped at its high mark—still short of the Volga, the richest oilfields of the Caucasus, and Moscow.

These are the questions the next few months will answer:

How far can the Russians push back the German line by comparison with last winter's repulse of the Nazis?

Can Hitler again hold advanced strongpoints for a new attacking front, or only a forfeited line to guard his eastern buffer front?

These are factors that will weigh in the outcome:

In the first three weeks of the current Russian drive the Red army gained salients 100 miles deep, penetrating from both sides of Stalingrad into the Chir river valley in the Don bend.

Last winter Russian total ground gains into the Nazi positions ranged from 50 miles to 150.

Thus the present offensive, although it is moving slowly through bitter resistance, shows at least as great a starting speed as the repulse of the Germans from the roads to Moscow a year ago.

Last winter, however, though Moscow was saved, the Russians were unable to pinch off the advance strong points to whose fortifications the Nazis still cling—Rzhev, Vyazma, Bryansk, all potential threats on the Moscow front.

* * *

THIS WINTER, along with the pincer attack into the Don bend west of Moscow, the Red army is undertaking anew to clean out the Rzhev-Vyazma strong points.

That would indicate that the Red army is willing to test its strength in the snows of two fronts almost 800 miles apart.

Hitler did not feel that strong this past summer and fall. Although his 1942 gains were comparable in depth to those of 1941, it must be recalled that in the first year of his war with Russia his armies attacked from the Black sea to the Arctic Circle. In the second year he concentrated his drive on the 300-mile southern front between Voronezh and Rostov. Elsewhere he hung on as best he could.

The Russian offensives, as they stand now, are within 100 miles of the Latvian frontiers on the north, and 150 miles of Rostov at the south.

One obvious Soviet strategy would be to drive a corridor down the Don to Rostov and the Black sea. That would cut off the whole Nazi salient into the Caucasus. It would cost Hitler dear in men and material and prestige. It would doom his hopes of a great oil-gaining drive into the southeast—by any other route save, perhaps, through Turkey.

But to accomplish this would necessitate a clean-up of the powerful German forces yet entrenched in the debris of Stalingrad and holding in force along a 30 to 50-mile wide corridor of escape or reinforcement to the west.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Almost unnoticed in the mass of war news pouring out in recent weeks has been the War Department's abandonment of an important experiment: the flight sergeant. In his place now is the "Flight Officer"—described by the army as a "sort of third lieutenant."

Next year will bring more than 100,000 pilots into the Army Air Corps. This change therefore is pretty important.

Flight officers get the same rank, pay and allowances provided for warrant officers of junior grade, but they get the same consideration, salute, etc., as any other officer. Thus end the "non-coms with wings" and nobody is happier to see them go than those very "non-coms with wings."

THE "flying sergeants" have for several years been bearing the responsibilities of officer pilots, but with none of the benefits or even such little considerations as being "sirred" and saluted by the ground crews. Some of them have been even better pilots than the men who wore bars along with their wings, yet lacked the qualities which would make them officers. They were better pilots of planes than of men.

There is no better explanation for this than was offered by one air corps general. Babe Ruth, he said, was a great baseball player—a genius with a bat who also hung up records as a fielder and pitcher. Still, the Babe lacked something. He never could win his spurs as a manager.

UNDER the new regulations, any man who has been a flight sergeant or any of those now coming out of schools originally designed to graduate flight sergeants will become flight officers. He will have the same insignia as a warrant officer except that his bar will be blue instead of brown and it will be crossed by a strip of gold.

In training, he will have no distinction from the men who are to become flying officers (men earmarked for flight sergeants have heretofore been known as flying students while flight officers in training were designated as flying cadets).

His record in flight school will determine his status as either a flight officer or second lieutenant, but you can bet the air corps will do its best to see that there is no stigma attached to a man coming out with the lesser grade.

In the matter of pay, the flight officers will be only a shade under the men with the bars. They still receive 50 per cent above base pay for flying. Army pay being what it is these days, that's nothing to shrug off.

Delaying Action May Be Rommel Strategy

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

WITHDRAWAL of the Germans from the natural defense bottleneck of El Agheila without attempting resistance indicates that they have abandoned hope of holding Libya.

Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the British Eighth army, proved himself a brilliant tactician when, after careful preparation, he drove Field Marshal Erwin Rommel out of the El Alamein bottleneck, flanked on the one side by sea and the other by the Qattara depression. He achieved it in spite of the deep defenses which the Germans were able to build.

The geographical position at El Agheila is somewhat comparable. The broad coastal highway runs between the sea and an area of salt marshes and ridges which make flanking operations impracticable. Whether because he lacked time to build the necessary defenses, or because he is outnumbered by the British both on land and in the air, Rommel did not elect to stand at El Agheila.

If Rommel could not hold at El Agheila, there is little reason to suppose he could do so at Misurata, which is 285 miles to the west and about 100 miles east of Tripoli. Misurata is not as defensible as El Agheila.

If he falls back to Tripoli, Rommel would be in little better position. Military expediency would dictate a retreat into Tunisia, abandoning all Libya to the victorious Allies.

WITH the remnant of his forces and equipment, Rommel could be of great aid to the Axis if he could effect a junction with the strong forces already in Tunisia. The Germans then could put up a strong fight to hold the northeastern corner of Tunisia in the coastal region extending southward from Bizerte to the Mareth line.

The Germans in that case would be in a pocket and under pressure both from east and west but they would be in an excellent military position. The Mareth line alone would be difficult to crack from the east, since it was built by the French solely to withstand assault from that direction.

The Germans also would have the advantage of short communication lines, as against extremely long lines for the Allies. Tunisia is only 100 to 150 miles from Axis bases in Sicily.

Despite heavy losses in transports and their escorts, the Axis has been able to run in some men and equipment by sea and also to bring over much personnel and material by air transports.

In contrast, the Allies have a supply line of thousands of miles from the United States and England. This explains the slow progress of the campaign in Tunisia, which was moved ahead of schedule by the quick capitulation of the French.

The same question of supply is likely to make Montgomery's westward drive slow. Montgomery already has driven 800 miles since the start of his offensive in Egypt and has nearly 400 miles to go before reaching Tripoli.

Rommel is in a position to fight a delaying action which is likely to postpone the ultimate decision for many weeks. In the meantime Hitler may be able to think up some move to avoid total defeat in Africa, or to get in enough reinforcements to hold out for a considerable period.

A Farmer's Diary

What To Do?

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"I THINK I want to buy a farm," he said. "Could you tell me where I might find a good one?"

I had never seen him before, but he looked about thirty, with an honest face. A woman and two children were in the car he drove.

"That your family?" I inquired.

"Yes. The kids like the country, and we'd like to have them grow up there. I'm makin' good money at the shop, but my job won't last forever. Land, now, won't run away. We thought it'd be a good thing to get a good-sized farm, now, while times are good, and get all set."

"Ever farmed any?"

"I've helped in harvest, often. My wife's folks are farmers. We get fresh eggs and milk from them all the time, but it does run into money to buy that stuff. If we had a place of our own, my wife could keep us with chickens. She's threatenin' to get a job in some war factory, and I'd rather have her at home with the kids."

"Have you the cash to buy a farm?"

"No, not enough. But we're young and I've always had a job. Our car is paid for and so's our furniture. We could dig up enough for a down payment, and pay the rest like rent. I ain't a financier, but I've got good credit."

"Do you like to work?"

"For myself—yes. This shop work don't give room for a man's imagination. I like the idea of being partners with the Almighty in producing something as wholesome as good food, and it'd be profitable, too . . . besides, if I'd have to go to war, I'd rather leave my family where they could be sure to eat. There's always something to eat on a farm, if a person has a cow and a few chickens, and a garden."

"Are you buying War Bonds?"

"Sure. And starting next week they'll deduct 10 per cent of my wages for bonds. I'd rather buy land than bonds, if I had my way, but a fellow might do both. What do you think? Do you happen to know of any likely farm—say about a hundred acres?"

WHAT SHOULD I HAVE TOLD THIS YOUNG MAN?

(Address replies to Calvin A. Byers, Bellville, Ohio. Excerpts, or perhaps whole letters, will be published. And both the young man and I will be grateful for your kindly advice.)

Timely Editorial

Winning Another War.

Although it is too early to say what the final score will be, it appears at this writing that the army in this war is going to chalk up a triumph over venereal disease.

From time immemorial, syphilis and gonorrhea have incapacitated more men than bullets. Casualties are fewer in World War II—partly because of treatments by the new sulfa drugs but largely because of the army's relentless campaign against prostitution.

In this campaign the lie is being given to those complacent individuals who have maintained that it was better to regulate prostitution than to try to eliminate it.

The army works on the simple theory that if the chief opportunity for transmission of disease is reduced, the number of cases of the disease is also going to be reduced. So far, it appears that the theory is right and that by honest and aggressive enforcement, prostitution can be held to a minimum.—Akron Beacon Journal.
